MARSEILLES UNDER SIEGE

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Vichy authorities have proclaimed a state of siege in Marseilles, the Vichy radio reported today, after dispatches from Switzerland told of angry Frenchmen fortifying their homes in the old port district of the city and firing on German soldiers ordered to evacuate the district.

The German news agency DNB said in dispatches to Madrid and Lisbon that 40,000 persons had been arrested in the city. The Vichy radio, which placed the number of arrested at 6000, was making an obvious effort to minimize difficulties in the old and historical city of Marseilles, second largest in France.

FRANCE—Revolt breaks out in Marseilles (1) after German occupation authorities order the evacuation and razing of the entire area of 40,000 persons. Frenchmen, barricaded in their homes, were firing on German troops.

INDIA NAVY KILLS JAPS

NEW DELHI, Jan. 26 (AP)—A Royal Indian Navy boat patrolling the Mayu river area in Burma rammed and sank a Japanese coastal craft filled with troops, a British communiqué said today.

RAF Hurricanes blasted a Japanese motor transport column yesterday in southwestern Burma, destroying at least 10 army trucks and a staff car.

Shwebo airdrome, held by the Japs in central Burma, was raided by fighter-bombers.

Other bombers went along the Arakan coast, the northeast shore of the Bay of Bengal.

F. D. Cancels Today's Press Conference

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (INS)—The White House today cancelled President Roosevelt's regular Tuesday afternoon press conference. No reason was given.

Shortly after reporting the state of siege proclamation, the radio asserted that Marseilles was calm and the evacuation of the old port district had taken place without difficulty. Earlier it had reported that anyone disobeying an order or attempting to shoot would be sentenced to death.

A Reuters dispatch from Zurich said the Germans had brought up artillery to shell revolting Frenchmen into submission if necessary and that house-to-house fighting was in progress.

German occupation authorities had ordered evacuation and razing of the district, apparently as a defense measure against possible Allied invasion from North Africa. The Germans have been fortifying the coast in the Marseilles area since completing the occupation of France.

SENT 75 MILES AWAY

German dispatches reporting the arrest of 40,000 persons said the move was "absolutely necessary because there were among them many criminals whose activities were against the security and interest of the state."

Thousands of persons, it was said, were being sent to Frejus, a town 75 miles east of Marseilles.

A broadcast by the German-controlled Lyon radio to the French public, reported to the Office of War Information, was quoted as follows:

"The Marseilles population, by their calm and discipline, have greatly facilitated the evacuation of the northern area of the old port. The regional prefect of Marseilles expressed his warm gratitude and thanked them for the understanding they displayed."

"SOCIAL SOLIDARITY"

"Those entrusted with maintaining order showed a great spirit of humane and social solidarity. Arrangements were made to safeguard as far as possible the material interests of the evacuated inhabitants."

"That is why everyone is definitely forbidden, until further orders, to enter the evacuated buildings, and anyone disregarding (these) orders and starting to pillage will be immediately arrested."

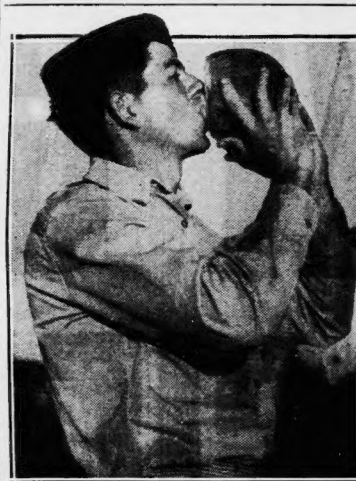

"Under the state of siege declared by the French authorities, the death sentence will be pronounced."

Stalin's Plea Spurs Reds

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Russia's armies pushed their battle lines ever closer to Rostov and deeper into the Ukraine today, spurred by the praise of Premier Joseph Stalin and his rallying cry that the invading Germans be thrown entirely out of Soviet Russia.

The lad you see enjoying the cool, refreshing milk of a coconut is Tech. Sergt. Edwin Maguire of Franklin, Mass., now stationed in New Caledonia. The American troops on duty there find the coconut milk an admirable substitute for water, which is not easily accessible in many South Sea areas.

For the first time in the Russians' offensive they hinted at Soviet activity close to Rostov, although the midday communiqué as reported here by the Soviet radio monitor did not say how near Rostov the units were working.

The group cited in the communiqué was a guerrilla detachment, and it was credited with operating in the Rostov area and wiping out about 200 of the enemy. The Russians also reported further gains with the capture of towns and villages on the southern front, on the southwestern front in the Voronezh area, and on the north Caucasian battle line, but they were not immediately identified.

The Premier's praise was contained in an order of the day broadcast by the Moscow radio and reported here by the Soviet monitor.

In it he cited the Red army for driving 245 miles in two months of the Russian winter offensive and capturing more than 200,000 prisoners while rolling the German

ROMMEL STILL GOES FAST

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Pressing relentlessly west from Tripoli in pursuit of Rommel's forces, a vanguard of the British Eighth Army has occupied the small coastal town of Zauia, 30 miles west of Tripoli, while a fighting French column from the African interior has reached Tripoli to join the approaching battle for Tunisia.

British spokesmen emphasized that the official communiqué announcing the occupation of Zauia placed the advanced elements of Montgomery's pursuing army still 60 miles from the Tunisian frontier, toward which Rommel's troops were racing under fierce aerial harassment.

The Fighting French of Brig. Gen. Jacques LeClerc announced in a triumphant communiqué they had reached Tripoli to join their British allies after a 1500-mile drive over the desert from the Lake Chad region of Equatorial Africa. This column began its march north 29 days ago and fought several battles with the Italian Libyan garrisons.

Bad weather restricted activity on the Tunisian front, both on the ground and in the air. The Allied headquarters communiqué reported briefly: "Our forces continued to operate toward the north in the Ousseltia valley."

Allied planes raided several points on Sicily during the day, the Italians reported. Rommel was believed to have sent a sizeable force into the Mareh line, which once guarded Tunisia against the Italians, but this move was believed by most observers to be only a delaying action against the Eighth Army.

STAFF FETES M'ARTHUR, 63

By MURLIN SPENCER
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Jan. 26 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur observed his 63d birthday today, working as usual.

Members of his staff, naval officers and Australians at general headquarters dropped into his office to pay their respects.

A year ago Gen. MacArthur, directing the defense of the Philippines, paced back and forth in a tunnel on Corregidor.

Today, only recently returned from directing the victorious Papua campaign and in excellent health, he stepped from a big black car and entered headquarters building for his day of work.

Awaiting him were messages of congratulation from Australia's prime minister, John Curtin, President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines and others.

Earlier he had listened to a broadcast of greetings from members of his class at West Point.

It was expected there would be a birthday cake tonight when he would be with Mrs. MacArthur and their son Arthur.

It is an Army tradition officers do not give presents to their commanding general but close personal friends in the Army gave him cigars today.

A witness appearing for the defense in the trial of Errol Flynn told the court that she heard Betty Hansen (here), one of the actor's accusers, say she hoped to meet Flynn and get into the movies with his assistance.

MORE WITNESSES TESTIFY FOR ERROL

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26 (AP)—More defense witnesses were summoned today to Screen Star Errol Flynn's trial on statutory attack charges, after an Army corporal, a drug-store waitress, a sandwich stand "carhop" and others testified:

That no disturbance, scuffling or yells were heard on Flynn's yacht, the Sirocco, the night 16-year-old Peggy La Rue Satterlee says the movie hero violated her.

That the other complaining witness Betty Hansen, 17, of Lincoln, Neb., had declared she was going to meet Flynn and "get into pictures that way," although Betty herself, on the witness stand, denied having movie ambitions.

That Betty, who testified the actor seduced her in an alcove off the "blue bedroom" of a Bel-Air mansion, had since signed her name, in renting an apartment, as "Mrs. Betty Gray."

Flynn, in a brown double-breasted suit, sat calmly with folded hands as seven witnesses testified for him on the defense's opening day.

CARHOP TESTIFIES

The "carhop," brunette Miss Elaine Patterson, testified she was the other girl aboard the star's yacht on the cruise to Catalina Island.

"Did you hear any disturbance or yells?" defense attorney Robert Ford asked Miss Patterson.

"None whatever."

"Did Peggy make any complaint to you Sunday morning?"

"No. She was always in very good spirits."

HEARD NO DISTURBANCE

The army corporal, Hubert L. Oliver, now an instructor at the Amarillo, Tex., Army air field, testified that as a member of the yacht crew, he slept on deck the Saturday night of the trip, but heard no disturbance.

"Did Mr. Flynn go below deck to your knowledge at any time coming back Sunday?" asked Defense Atty. Jerry Giesler.

"No, he steered all the way back."

Brunette, red-clad Mona Mervyn, waitress in a Hollywood drug store, said she and Miss Hansen worked together.

"Did she say she had a friend who knew Errol Flynn, and she was going to get a chance to meet Flynn and get into pictures that way?" Giesler inquired.

"Yes," Miss Mervyn replied.

5000 START DRESS STRIKE

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Nearly 5000 employees affiliated with the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, AFL, ceased work today following a breakdown of negotiations with five employer associations for a wage readjustment.

Union officials described it as a stoppage and said it might spread through the dress trade, New York city's largest industry, employing 85,000, if arbitration was not begun or the War Labor Board did not intervene.

The 5000 workers were from 75 to 100 shops. Should a general stoppage result, it would be the first since 1933.

Mary Curley Divorce Given; Tells Cruelty

After testifying that Edward C. Donnelly, whom she married June 8, 1935, in Boston's most fashionable wedding of the season, had abused her and once had choked her almost into unconsciousness, Mary Curley Donnelly today was granted a divorce in probate court at Dedham.

Judge James F. Reynolds granted the daughter of Cong. James M. Curley a decree nisi after a long recital of alleged cruelties which she said resulted in police being summoned on several occasions.

Supporting her testimony with X-ray plates of injuries she said she had suffered was Dr. Paul Butler of Bay State rd., Back Bay, to whom she had been sent by the Curley family physician, Dr. Martin English.

TELLS OF TERROR

The only daughter of the former Massachusetts governor and Boston mayor, testified she had lived with Donnelly in Boston, Medfield and Brookline and that her last, and present, address is Randolph rd., Brookline.

She was questioned in the uncontested divorce action by her counsel, Atty. Walter Henneberry. "On Jan. 5, 1943," he asked, "did something unusual take place?"

"Yes," she replied. "Mr. Donnelly came home at 9:30 p. m. and assaulted me. He told me he ought to kill me and I was terrified. I called the police. He left before they arrived."

SAYS HE BROKE IN

Q—Did he throw any objects at you? A—No, he didn't use any objects against me, but he did throw me into a chair and aimed kicks at me. He returned at 2:30 a. m. I was asleep. My housekeeper came into my room and told me there was considerable racket and that the doorbell had been ringing for quite some time. I told her not to answer the doorbell, as I was very fearful. And then Mr. Donnelly broke in. I heard a crash of wood dand glass.

LOCKED JURY PROBES DATA ON LOTTERY

Protested by extraordinary secrecy measures, witnesses today gave testimony before a special Suffolk County grand jury considering evidence in the $90,000,000 lottery ring roundup which resulted in the arrest of Dr. Harry (Dr. Jasper) Saganasky and 23 others.

Witnesses were immediately taken to an anteroom upon their arrival at the court house to prevent any spectators learning their identities. Two outer doors to the jury room were locked and locked to forestall any attempts at obtaining secret information by outsiders.

The sensational move to present the cases to the grand jury was made by Atty.-Gen. Robert T. Bushnell in an effort to obtain indictments against Saganasky and more than 20 other suspects.

Bushnell was assisted in presenting the voluminous evidence by Asst. Atty.-Gens. Frank G. Volpe, Milton Westgate and William Hayes.

Twenty-three State Policemen who took part in the sweeping raid on Boston lottery headquarters waited their turns to testify.

Although not present in the anteroom, Miss Catherine Cremins, pretty brunette defendant, described as a "very important witness," was also expected to appear before the jurors.

She has been under heavy State Police protection since her arrest and arraignment in the municipal court. She made a lengthy statement to State officials following the raids.

Another witness may be an auditor who spent several days going over with state officials books and records which were seized in the raids, and which are expected to be introduced in evidence.

It was reported at the Court House that more than a score of indictments would be sought under the new "Fictitious Lottery" statute, which makes the offense a felony rather than a misdemeanor, and carries with conviction a state prison penalty.

Meanwhile, in Middlesex Superior Court, attorneys for Saganasky and James J. Carrigan, Malden filling station operator, filed motions for bills of particular in connection with charges against the pair alleging an attempt to control gambling in the city.

Dist. Atty. Robert F. Bradford told Judge William C. Giles he was not familiar with details of the motions and was granted a continuance until tomorrow.

QUIZ 3 IN LOWER 13 DEATH

ALBANY, Ore., Jan. 26 (AP)—Evidence collected along the 1800-mile route of the Southern Pacific's West Coast Limited was sent here today as Linn County authorities took charge of the mystery of lower 13, the sleeping car slaying of a naval officer's young bride.

Mrs. Martha Virginia Brinson James, 21, daughter of a prominent Norfolk, Va., family, was killed, her throat slit as she lay in berth 13 of a sleeper aboard the south-bound limited early last Saturday.

The death car and pages of testimony, taken from passengers and employees as the train moved through Oregon and California, have been sent here.

Also returned are two men as material witnesses, Marine Pvt. Harold R. Wilson, 22, Buckley, Wash., who had berth upper 13, and John Funches, negro dining car waiter, who had berth 13.

A third man, Robert Folkes, 21, negro cook on the train, was picked up as the train entered Los Angeles. He is held for possible return. Mrs. James' death occurred near Tangent, Ore., south of Albany in Linn county.

From the mass of evidence Dist. Atty. Harlow L. Weinrick must find a motive for the slaying and trace down one of numerous leads to the killer.

Police said Mrs. James was not robbed and was not raped. One theory, however, is that she was slain while rebuffing a rape attempt.

Pvt. Wilson said he was awakened by a scream about 4 a. m. Saturday. He looked out to see a heavy-set man back from Mrs. James' berth and run toward the rear of the train, he told investigators.

Wilson gave chase, but saw no one. On his return he encountered Folkes, who said he had seen no one.

Another passenger, Eugene Norton, Dale City, Cal., occupied a berth near No. 13. He said he heard a woman cry "I can't take this any longer . . . My God, this man's killing me!" Then followed the scream.

Mrs. James, bride of a young Navy ensign, was following her husband on a routine transfer from Seattle.

4 PROBE JEFFERS ROW IN HOUSE; UP TO F. D.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—An investigation into Rubber Administrator William Jeffers' charges that "the Army and Navy loafers" were interfering with war production was ordered today by the House naval committee.

The action was taken at the request of Chairman Vinson (D.) of Georgia, after he read to the committee a newspaper story of Jeffers' remarks before the Council of State Governors at Baltimore yesterday.

"This is a serious accusation, and we should have an inquiry to prove the correctness of his statement. We should also hear from Army and Navy officials," Vinson said.

Meanwhile, it was up to President Roosevelt today to call the winner in the sharp skirmishing between Jeffers and the armed services on whether Jeffers should get the overriding priority go-ahead he demands for his synthetic rubber program.

The question is known to have been in the hands of James F. Byrnes, director of Economic Stabilization, for two weeks, but in four or five sources said intense military pressure had been applied and the final decision would have to come from Mr. Roosevelt.

These official sources, who cannot be quoted, said Army and Navy heads had furnished a joint memorandum to Byrnes setting forth their claims. Briefly, these are that the special priority directive sought by Jeffers would interfere with three other "must" programs; aviation gasoline, chemical warfare plants and naval escort vessels.

700 MANY EXPERTS

The intensity of the conflict was brought into the open yesterday by Jeffers' denunciation of what he called Army and Navy "interference" with war production. The country will get production, he told the council of state governments in Baltimore, "if we keep the Army and Navy loafers out of these plants."

"There are too many experts in these plants, Army and Navy men," Jeffers said. "One day it's the Navy and the next it's the Army. It's a battle between how many stars and how many bars."

This blunt talk got a round of applause in Baltimore but drew a reprimand from the Office of War Information in Washington, which is supposed to clear and approve all speeches by public officials.

Jeffers said he spoke at a "question and answer affair" and therefore "shouldn't think" his remarks would have to be submitted to OYI in advance. His criticism was not of the Army and Navy, he said, but of the "expedients from the Army and Navy."

BACKED BY NELSON

The Baltimore episode came after Jeffers heard M. J. Madigan, special assistant to Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, testified on Capitol Hill that the Army wanted Jeffers to lower his sights in order not to hold back the military programs which compete with rubber for equipment and materials.

Jeffers told reporters after this hearing, before a Senate agriculture sub-committee which last year sponsored a proposal for a legislatively-created rubber czar, that he would insist on getting his share of materials unless "overruled by higher authority."

Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board, who was called before the committee today, already has approved and sent to Byrnes a plan for giving Jeffers a green light on 55 per cent of the long-range synthetic rubber program.

Marketmen Aid Fund With Big Rally Today

Sponsored by the labor-management advisory committee of the Greater Boston United War Fund, the annual market men's rally in the campaign to raise $7,800,000 is being held at Faneuil Hall today.

Joseph A. Salerno, Massachusetts state president of the CIO, and Charles C. Cabot, general chairman of the United War Fund, are listed to speak at the rally sponsored by the Packing House Workers' Organizing Committee, CIO, Local 11, headed by Jesse Prosten, and Sidney Rabinovitz, president of the Colonial Provision Co.

As the drive for the benefit of home and war front services moved into its sixth day today, it was announced that total contributions have reached $2,575,000. The figure was an estimated one based on latest returns from the 118 money-raising units of the 49 cities and towns of Greater Boston.

UNUSUAL DONATION

An unusual contribution received today at the Federal st. headquarters was a check for $50 from the Club for New Americans.

All members of the club are recent immigrants to the United States. They meet once a week at a Community Fund settlement house.

The Public Service Division reported that five more Boston public schools have gone over the top of their quotas, bringing to 17 the number of schools that have exceeded the 100 per cent mark. The five reported today are Bennett School, Brighton; Quincy School, Tyler st., Boston; Christopher Gibson School, Dorchester; Charlestown High and Hyde Park High.

The next official figure on contributions to the Fund will be announced tomorrow noon at the second "Dutch treat" report luncheon at the Boston City Club. Dist. Atty. Robert F. Bradford will speak.

50-GALLON OIL RELIEF GIVEN IN EMERGENCY

Emergency sale of 50 gallons of fuel oil—without coupons, if necessary—today was authorized by the Office of Price Administration in Washington.

The only string to the offer, officials pointed out, was that the person must have applied for coupons for the season at a local ration board. The board is expected to deduct the 50 gallons from future rations.

Numerous other emergency provisions are provided, but the special 50-gallon plan was adopted immediately to tide over homeowners during the time it takes to get any of the other forms of relief which local ration boards can give.

GET IT ONLY ONCE

The 50-gallon purchase, without coupons, or with coupons from a future heating period, may be made only once in a heating season, officials declared.

Augmenting the Washington announcement, an emergency fuel distribution program was being outlined today here at a meeting of the alphabetical government representatives in conference with state and local health authorities and oil company officials.

Attending the conference in the offices of Lawrence J. Brenahan, state director of OPA, were: John M. Deely, state rationing fuel executive; Kenneth Backman, regional director of OPA; William G. O'Hare, representing Boston Welfare department; William L. Little and E. Graham Bates, representing the Fuel Rationing office of the Boston area; Gerald Torgberg, representing PAW; Edward J. Lucas and Adam J. Gage, of the Boston War Price Ration Board; William Taylor, of the South Boston War Price Ration Board; Edgar M. Mills, representing Col. Thomas F. Sullivan, state fuel conservator; Michael Prudente, of the Independent Retail Fuel Oil Dealers' Ass'n, and John McBride, director of Necessaries of Life.

Today's meeting is being held in an attempt to solve the "heatless period between Coupons 3 and 4."

Thousands of metropolitan home fuel users, with their home tanks nearly exhausted, faced a heatless week-end. With their No. 3 coupons exhausted, and No. 4 coupons not "cashable" until next Monday, today's Washington announcement, it is believed, will greatly alleviate the situation in Massachusetts.

TEMPORARY RELIEF

In Greater Boston higher temperatures and increased kerosene shipments brought temporary relief to householders.

Today Gov. Saltonstall and Col. Sullivan were in Baltimore to attend a meeting of the Council of State Governments, a national organization, to discuss the oil situation.

Co-ordinator Jckes is scheduled to be present, and it is hoped some plan may be worked out to ease the oil shortage on the Eastern seaboard.

Plan Ceilings For Beef, Pork

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—

The Office of Price Administration is making plans to establish dollars and cents ceiling prices for beef and pork meats sold at retail throughout the nation, an OPA spokesman said.

He added that if OPA decided to make the ceilings effective it probably would be several weeks before the order would be issued.

Under the plan discussed, he said, the ceilings might differ in various localities. Chain stores would have slightly lower ceilings than would their independent competitors with smaller volumes of business.

Bay State Boy Krupa Witness

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 26—Police here said today that parents of John Peter Pateacos, 20, formerly of South Water st., had identified their son as the youth held as a material witness in the San Francisco case against band leader Gene Krupa on a charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Krupa faces hearing on a charge that he allegedly sent a member of his troupe, who gave his age as 17, to a hotel room for a supply of marijuana.

Chief Inspector William M. McCarthy said that after Pateacos' mother told police she was convinced the youth mentioned in press dispatches was her son, police here had wired San Francisco probation officials and confirmed the identification.

Dewey Cuts Bill From N. Y. Budget

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 26 (S)—New York's first Republican executive budget, to be submitted to the Legislature by Governor Dewey next Monday night, will total between $365,000,000 and $370,000,000, a decrease of between $6,000,000 and $11,000,000 from the current budget total, it was reported today.

FREIGHT HANDLERS' STRIKE PERILS $250,000 IN FOOD

Labor trouble, flaring anew today at the Boston Market Terminal, tied up perishable foodstuffs valued at more than $250,000 when more than 100 freight handlers resumed their jurisdictional strike.

The surprise walkout came within a few hours after an agreement had been effected between the warring factions apparently ending a one-day strike started yesterday.

William Quinlan, president of the terminal company, said he "had no idea" what caused the men to quit work today. He said he understood the dispute had been settled at a five-hour conference between company and union officials last night.

DEALERS GET NO LOADS

Fruit and produce dealers from Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont were unable to obtain loads when they arrived at the Terminal. More than 244 carloads of perishable fruits and produce are tied up by the dispute.

The strike has the fourth staged by the Food Service Sales Drivers' Union since last August over the question which of two American Federation of Labor unions should have jurisdiction.

NAVY USES "PRESSURE"

The short-lived settlement, accepted by employers and union representatives, called for an election Feb. 2 to determine which union the men wanted. It also called for a 30-day no-strike agreement.

Albert W. Fuchs, president and business agent for Local 646, said the workers did not accept the agreement reached by the union committee and voted to continue their strike.

Lieut. Edward Kingman, Navy marketing officer, said supplies were provided for the Navy despite the dispute. He admitted "a little pressure" was used to get the merchandise.

The dispute was expected to be handed to the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration within a few hours, Quinlan said.

Johnson, Ex-Judge, Made Lieut.-Colonel

Former Judge Kenneth D. Johnson of Milton, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel and made staff officer of the U. S. Signal Corps in Washington, according to word received here today.

Lieut.-Col. Johnson is a veteran of World War I, in which he enlisted when he was 17 years old. He served 18 months overseas and took part in seven campaign engagements, for which he received a citation.

He served as chairman of the board of selectmen of Milton for many years and one time was a candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant-governor.

85 WAACS ENTRAIN IN FLURRY OF KISSES

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, JAN. 26, 1943

All was excitement today at the North Station when 85 WAACS-to-be entrained for Ft. Devens, en route to Daytona Beach, Fla., but not until two husky Military Police had been hurriedly enlisted to separate the girls from their enthusiastic relatives and friends.

When finally the 85 had been placed aboard three cars of the special train they began a trip which will land them in Florida as part of a contingent of 222 trainees.

The others were due to assemble today at Devens from various points in New England.

At Daytona the women will train for four weeks and then will become part of the expected strength of 150,000 WAACS being recruited throughout the nation.

FRIENDS MILL IN AND OUT

Lieut. Alice G. Gordon, recruiting officer for the WAAC in the First Service Command, took charge of the women when they gathered at the station, but the continued farewells of the relatives and friends—including not a few boy friends—soon had the detail in disorder.

Lieut. Gordon first tried to have her recruits fall in in a column of squads, but she gave up when the enthusiastic friends continued to mill in and out of the detail.

The two grinning M. P.'s, however, soon had the WAAC aspirants aboard the three cars, where card tables were broken out and bridge games started.

FAREWELL TO SON

Among the recruits was Mrs. Mildred B. Sebring, attractive housewife and mother, of Washington, Ind., who was given farewell by her son, Paul Sebring, 24, a research student at Harvard.

Mrs. Sebring said that because the Navy refuses to allow the son to go into the armed service—he is engaged in underwater sound experiments for the Navy—she decided that she would join up.

She revealed, too, that she has an adopted son in the Army Air Force. He is Orville R. Wright of Douglas, Ariz., named for the pioneer flier and a descendant.

Others in the contingent were:

Knife to Remove Pin From Baby's Throat

Massachusetts General Hospital surgeons today planned a delicate operation to remove a small, open safety pin and an attached religious medal swallowed by 14-month-old Marjorie Murphy.

The pin and medal, which the child tore loose from her crib, lodged in her esophagus, but the lot spent a comfortable night despite the obstruction, doctors reported.

6 GAME PT'S TACKLE, SINK JAP SHIPS 200 TIMES SIZE

While his vivid eye-witness book, "Guadalcanal Diary," February selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club, rolls from presses, Richard Tregaskis still is on the job in the South Pacific war theater. Here in his latest dispatch, recounting the magnificent role played by America's famed PT boats.

By RICHARD TREGASKIS

Boston American and International News Service Staff Correspondent
AN ADVANCED BASE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, Jan. 21 (Delayed)—With unofficial estimates that American torpedo boats in the Solomons waters alone have sunk or damaged more than a quarter millions tons of enemy ships, the U. S. Navy sums up the accomplishments of these little PT vessels.

Often tackling an enemy more than 200 times heavier than themselves and replying to intensive enemy gunfire with their own anti-aircraft, the PT's made their contact with the Japs in the Solomons on the night of Oct. 3, when they attacked a force of Jap cruisers and destroyers attempting to land troops and supplies on Guadalcanal. They scored hits on one ship and a cruiser, despite Jap heavy gunfire.

Several PT's struck again two weeks later, hitting one out of three Jap destroyers and escaping in spite of enemy shelling.

During the following weeks there were many brushes between the PT's and the "Bougainville Express"—the name applied to a force of Jap cruisers and destroyers which persistently came down from the enemy Bougainville base attempting to land troops and supplies on Guadalcanal.

On the night of Dec. 7 three PT's, at a narrow range of a few hundred yards answered the five-inch fire of Jap destroyers with machine gun bullets.

Two nights later, after driving off a Jap vessel from the Guadalcanal shore, the PT's encountered and strafed an armed enemy landing barge. The enemy crew disappeared under the strafing.

Then the PT's tackled a force of Jap destroyers, sank one, probably sank another after setting her afire and damaged a third. One PT was lost.

Enemy's numbers never daunt the PT's. On the night of Jan. 10 the PT's attacked a large number of Jap destroyers towing many landing boats, scoring two hits on one destroyer, one hit on a second and possibly hit a third. Result: an enemy retirement.

The following morning the PT's, discovering enemy drums loaded with supplies floating toward the shore, sank the drums with machine gun fire.

Rail Men Ask 30 P. C. Raise

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The five railroad transportation brotherhoods have formally filed with the carriers their requests for a flat 30 per cent increase in wages. The brotherhoods announced this demand several weeks ago. Under the Railway Labor Act, arrangements for direct negotiations must be made 10 days after the demands are formally filed, and the negotiations must begin within 30 days.

The transportation brotherhoods are the engineers, firemen and enginemen, conductors, trainmen, and switchmen. They represent about 450,000 employees.

'Consequence' Is Pleasant $$$ Medicine

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Staten Island House of Mul-lane was toasting the Royal English House of Tudor today because the Tudors put Henry the Eighth on the throne, unknown to Mrs. Dennis Mullane, with these results: Mrs. Mullane was embarrassed on the NBC radio quiz program "Truth or Consequences" last Saturday when she said that five instead of eight Henrys had sat upon the English throne.

As a "consequence," it was decreed that radio listeners should mail her pennies to buy a war bond for her son, Harold, 17, who is a Marine training at New River, N. C.

At least 40,000 letters had arrived at the Mullane house at West Brighton, Staten Island, by today, many containing bills and coins of higher denominations than pennies.

Mrs. Mullane called in her neighbors to help her open the envelopes, but as soon as they seemed to be making inroads on the piles, another mailman came in groaning with a bagful. Postmaster Bernard Sheeran at nearby St. George said a mail truck load will be sent to the Mullanes' later today.

Mr. and Mrs. Mullane, who duck in and out of the mounds of letters in the parlor, dining room and kitchen, aren't sure where they're going to put more. Police have been detailed to guard the house at night.

Ralph Edwards, master of ceremonies on the program who put the Henry poser to Mrs. Mullane, said he'd send a staff of clerks to help her out today, if her task became too great.

M'NIDER WINS NEW CITATION

AUSTRALIA, Jan. 26 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster in lieu of the Distinguished Service Cross today to Brig. Gen. Hanford MacNider of Mason City, Ia., for "extraordinary heroism in action near Cape Endiadeere, New Guinea, Nov. 23."

His citation said that while within a few yards of the front line observing the disposition of infantry units for an impending attack Gen. MacNider saw some men with a drawing from an advanced position. While rallying this group he received numerous wounds from fragments when an enemy grenade exploded.

The citation added that his courageous personal example of coolness under fire and fortitude after being wounded were an inspiration to men under his command.

Mrs. F. D. Favors 18-Year-Old Vote

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt hopes for eventual world disarmament and at the same time asserted 18-year-olds should be enfranchised because they would have to continue to carry many burdens imposed on them by the war.

Disarmament would have to be universal, she said, and could be achieved only gradually after "a period in which there would have to be a United Nations domination."

The old form of pacifism didn't work, she told her press conference, because "everybody has to be converted or it is useless."

Grab War Strikers' Rations, Her Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—An elderly woman constituent of Rep. Plumley of Vermont suggested today in a letter to the Congressman that the government lift the food ration coupons of strikers and war workers who take frequent days off from the job.

"You won't have to call out the Army," said the writer, whose name was kept confidential by Plumley.

"Take away their food ration cards. They'll have to work or starve," she added describing those guilty of chronic absenteeism as "traitors and saboteurs."

Plumley's only comment was, "It might be worth considering."

COAST GUARDSMAN SURVIVED 112 GUADALCANAL BOMBINGS

Anyone who thinks the Coast Guards do nothing but guard the U. S. coasts should hear the story of James D. Fox, 29, of Uniontown, Pa., who is stationed temporarily at Coast Guard headquarters at the Custom House here.

Fox, now a warrant officer, a rank to which he was promoted because of meritorious service, reveals an amazing saga of the South Seas in which he survived 112 bombings and more than 30 shelling by Japanese warships.

It happened while Fox was a member of the original landing party at Guadalcanal, in which Coast Guardsmen participated. During the 90 days of grueling land, sea and air battles, the warrant officer lost 38 pounds.

HERE'S OWN STORY

Here's the story as he tells it: "We arrived at Guadalcanal last August and immediately set about our landing operations delivering men and supplies on the beach. My job was to keep the boat engines in shape for this task. We completed our landings during the heaviest rain I have ever seen.

"We had no sooner settled down than Jap battleships let go with all their guns. It was one of the most terrific naval battles I was ever in. Because of these continued bombings the water just offshore became known as 'sleepless lagoon.'

"When we finally settled down on shore, I was assigned to what had been an overseers' hut, but didn't stay there very long as the Japs started up another barrage and shrapnel came tearing through the roof. It just missed my roommates and myself by inches.

"In one of our landings, the Marines were engaging a group of Japanese when one of them threw down his gun, held up his hands and in perfect English said:

"Don't shoot! I'm from Ohio State."

72 HOLES IN TENT

"One night, while sleeping, I was awakened by shell fire. I dived into a nearby fox hole. A piece of shrapnel landed on the blanket I had just vacated tearing a big hole in it. When the shelling had died down, I counted 72 holes in my tent.

"We really owed a lot to the natives on the island, who hated the Japs, because the latter had shot some of them when they first took possession. Again a package of American cigarettes was our entree, and if we gave a native a pipe, he really thought he was a 'big shot.' They were very helpful and guided us many times on our tours."

'INFORMATION, PLEASE' QUIT OVER 'GREEN GOES TO WAR'

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 (AP)—An affidavit filed in Supreme Court today contended the repetitious use of an advertising slogan on the "Information, Please" radio program resulted in cancellation of a contract between the producers, Dan Golenpaul Associates, and the sponsors, the American Tobacco Co.

The affidavit, filed by Dan Golenpaul, said the contract was cancelled by him on Nov. 25, but that the cancellation will not become effective until after the last broadcast of the program for the American Tobacco Co., Feb. 5.

In seeking a temporary injunction and $100,000 damages against the company, the producers ask for discontinuance of the new slogan used on the program: "The best tunes of all move to Carnegie Hall, yes, the best tunes of all move to Carnegie Hall."

Motions on the petition for temporary injunction will be argued tomorrow before Justice Bernard L. Shientag. In addition to the American Tobacco Co., the action also names as defendants the National Broadcasting Co. and Milton J. Cross and Basil Ruysdael, announcers.

The contract was entered into Aug. 5, 1940.

Golenpaul contended in his affidavit refusal of the American Tobacco Co. to discontinue the slogan, "Lucky Strike Green has gone to war" caused him to cancel the contract.

The affidavit stated that the repetition of both slogans on "Information, Please" impairs and destroys the entertainment and educational quality of the broadcast.

ARMY'S CALLING OF RESERVE CORPS HITS COLLEGES HARD

The end of college life as such for the war's duration was seen, today, following the Army call of members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps from institutions of higher learning.

The order is regarded as the first move by selective service heads to drain the colleges of regular students and use them as military training centers for servicemen.

It is estimated that the War Department order will affect probably one-seventh of the students in New England's larger colleges and in all probability a similar percentage in the smaller institutions.

Then, too, hundreds more students are expected to quit school to enlist as they see fraternity brothers and pals marching off.

While awaiting further details on the drastic move from Army authorities, college heads accepted calmly the sharp curtailments of enrollment, most of them having foreseen the move.

An unofficial tabulation of major intercollegiate institutions in New England revealed that there are approximately 14,300, of which about 2400 come under the Army order.

In addition, hundreds more will be graduated from the schools under the speed-up curricular plans which practically all colleges in this area have adopted.

Still to remain in college are reservists in special branches who have been excepted in the order. They include students majoring in all branches of medicine, upper class engineering course students, advanced course ROTC senior unit students, aviation cadets, all sophomores in essentially military colleges and students in the electronic training group.

Man, Girl Hurt In Police Chase

Mrs. Doris McDonald, 19, of East Broadway, South Boston, and Joseph C. Vadney, 21, of Dorchester st., South Boston, were critically injured early today when the car in which they were riding skidded and crashed into two poles at Farragut rd., and Fourth st., South Boston, as the climax of a police chase.

Police said they noticed the two in Perkins sq. in an auto earlier reported missing by a Belmont man who had parked it in Roxbury. Police gave chase and the crash resulted.

Hospital officials said Vadney has a possible skull fracture and Mrs. McDonald has severe lacerations of the head and face and an ear injury.

Paul Curley Gains, But Still in Danger

Further improvement was reported today in the condition of Paul G. Curley, 29, son of Cong. James M. Curley, who has been at City Hospital since Sunday suffering from a long congestion. Hospital officials said he spent a restless night and was "comfortable" this morning, but that his name still remained on the danger list.

SAYS EVERYBODY GOES TO HEAVEN

There is no need to worry about the future life of anyone, according to Edwin J. Dingle, minister of the Church of The Holy Trinity in Los Angeles, whose revolutionary teaching has followers throughout the world.

"The mother whose sons are now in the armed forces need not worry about them," he declares, "No matter what those sons believe, nor how wayward they have been—even if they die in disbelief and error, they get another chance—a thousand more chances if need be. Everyone lives forever. God gives us opportunity again and again to reach perfection—if it takes a million years."

The amazing religion taught by this minister is called "Mystic Christianity." He teaches methods used by great mystics throughout the ages, men whose strange power has always puzzled investigators. In order to learn these methods, he traveled widely, consulted great living mystics of the Orient, where he spent twenty-one years. He has been signally honored by geographical societies for his accomplishments. He attaches little importance to beliefs or creeds. Feelings, he says, is the important thing. Even true faith is a feeling, and can accomplish wonders with almost any belief. Belief, without feeling, does nothing. Love and joy and reverence, all feelings, give a better understanding of God than words ever can. It is through feeling that men achieve power. A man's success, his personality, even his health, are often governed by the feelings, the moods, that dominate him. Feeling and Spirit are closely related.

He declares it is remarkable what changes can be brought into people's lives by the mystic methods which create these feelings, what power and influence people often have, what joy and success, peace and health. Almost unbelievable reports of accomplishment have been received from people throughout the world who have learned to use these unique methods.

A nine-thousand word treatise, revealing many startling results of the methods, is now being offered by The Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. P-16, Los Angeles, Calif. They offer to send it free to any readers of this paper who quickly send their names and addresses. Readers are urged to write them promptly, as only a limited number of the free treatises have been printed.

SEE HOW LITTLE FREIGHT RATES AFFECT THE WEEKLY MARKET BASKET

TO FEED a family of four—herself, dad and two lively youngsters—now costs mother $14.94* a week.

Before the war—say, October 1941—she paid $12.84* for the same groceries, the same quantities.

So now she pays $2.10 a week more.

But of that sum, the increased cost of railroad freight transportation represents exactly TWO PENNIES.

In fact, if you were to go down mother's long weekly grocery list, item for item, and then note the increase in freight cost for each—so infinitesimal would it be that there just isn't any standard of measurement in American currency to gauge a comparison.

Take the three examples above—ham—butter—canned tomatoes. Good old American food staples. See how microscopic is the change in transportation costs to the East.

In fact, if the slight increase in freight rates were completely removed, you wouldn't save a cent. Can a grocer hand you back 1/20th of a cent?

But that is only half the story. To haul to New York City the wide variety of foods that grace the average American table, the railroads must cover over 50,000 miles. They bring it from everywhere—from California, Florida, Maine, the Middle West, every agricultural region.

And further, they are doing it at virtually pre-war rates despite the fact that—

—Railroads now pay 14 per cent higher wages than in 1941—equal to an increase of $400,000,000 a year in payrolls;

—Railroads pay 18 per cent more for materials—an increase exceeding $100,000,000 a year;

—Railroads have voluntarily reduced their revenue by over $300,000,000 a year by decreasing freight rates on fuel oil, gasoline, sugar, rubber, ammunition and many other commodities vitally needed by the public and the Government—and by reducing passenger fares to men in uniform traveling on furlough. This reduction in fares for members of the armed forces traveling on furlough alone amounts to about $70,000,000 a year.

Add everything up that the railroads are doing today for the Army, the Navy and the nation, and you find they are moving more freight than ever before at the lowest cost per mile in 25 years.

10 FLYNN FOES GAIN IN FORCE

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, JAN. 26, 1943

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Signs multiplied today of increasing Democratic opposition in the Senate to President Roosevelt's appointment of Edward J. Flynn as minister to Australia and his personal ambassador to the southwest Pacific.

With the Senate's 38 Republicans expected to vote nearly solidly against confirmation of the former Democratic national chairman for the diplomatic post, growing indications of Democratic defections cast doubt on the outcome.

A dozen or so "No" votes from the Democratic side might swing the verdict against Flynn, depending on the number of senators voting when the showdown comes, probably next week. Several more than that number of Democrats were non-committal in their attitude, a cloakroom survey showed.

The foreign relations committee will ballot on the nomination tomorrow and while its verdict generally was believed likely to be favorable, one Democratic member who asked to remain anonymous, said an adverse report would not be too surprising to him.

Some Democrats were reported planning to oppose Flynn's confirmation on the grounds that he was not an experienced diplomat and for that reason ought not to be sent to a critical war zone such as Australia.

ALLOW 10 CANS PER PERSON ON HAND AT RATION START

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—If your supply of canned goods does not exceed ten cans for each member of your family, you probably will not be deprived of any coupons when rationing of canned foods starts about March 1.

This probable limit—it may be trimmed down to eight or nine a person—has been adopted tentatively by the Office of Price Administration, it was learned today, to discourage hoarding.

It may prove to be one of the most controversial phases of the program, however, because in some regions, particularly isolated areas, it is the practice to stock up for long intervals.

Cans containing less than eight ounces will not be counted, although both size and contents will count on rationed purchases.

PENALTIES BIG TASK

Application of penalties for excess supplies will be one of the big tasks of the 1,500,000 school teachers and other volunteers who will register the public for food rationing in about three or four weeks.

On dates yet to be fixed, depending on the speed of printing and distributing books, instructions and other forms, one adult from every family will go to a registration place with two things—the family's No. 1 ration books (the ones used for sugar and coffee) and a total of how many cans of fruits or vegetables (excluding home canned) the family owns. It will not be necessary to list each can separately—just the total.

When he shows his No. 1 books a clerk will pencil an "X" across stamp No. 19 in each book as a sort of receipt for book No. 2, which will then be handed out, one for each member of the family. The family will retain the No. 1 books, too.

TEAR OUT COUPONS

Before handing out No. 2 books, however, the clerk will tear out coupons in accordance with the penalty. Here's an example:

Suppose the limit is 10 cans per person. The limit for a family of four would be 40 cans. Suppose

RUMPL PAY-AS-YOU-GO TAX PLAN GAINING IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—With sentiment increasing for adoption of the Ruml pay-as-you-go tax plan, or a modified version of it, the House Ways and Means Committee will meet Thursday to begin the job of raising new revenue to help offset a national debt approaching $210,000,000,000.

Chairman Doughton said he hoped to lead through the committee by the end of this week legislation to boost the debt limit from $125,000,000,000 to $210,000,000,000.

First attention will be given to the pay-as-you-go plan of collection, Doughton said, on the theory that the methods of raising the revenue can be considered better after the form of collection is settled.

While generally agreed that taxes must be collected on a current basis by deducting them regularly from pay checks, committee members are far from agreed on the best procedure.

Principal objections have been that it would result in the loss of one year's taxes to the Treasury, since some committee members contend taxpayers hardly could be asked to pay in 1943 the tax normally due from 1942 income and at the same time pay currently their 1943 levies.

Advocates, however, said they had gained strength for their cause through an argument by Ruml that the Treasury stood to gain, rather than lose, revenue over the long haul.

Among the new revenue suggestions virtually certain to be considered are a boost in income taxes, a federal sales tax with exemptions for persons in the low income groups, new and stiffer luxury taxes, and a national lottery.

ARMY SHOES MARCH AGAIN

U. S. Salvages Old Brogans

HANNIBAL, Mo., Jan. 26 (AP)—Battered Army brogans, apparently fit only for the rubbish pile, get new toeholds on life at two salvage plants, then return to the ranks ready to carry soldiers into battle with even more ease than their shiny new cowhide cousins.

Sometimes these rejuvenated veterans retain only a part of their original uppers, sometimes all; but the Army found quite early in its salvage work that the yearly saving of leather equalled the hides of 200,000 cattle.

First, the Army started a plant of its own at Buford, Ga., then made a contract with the International Shoe Co. and International converted a men's welt shoe factory at Hannibal, Mo., into a salvage plant.

No new machinery except sterilizing equipment was used, but American ingenuity entered the picture when international engineers adapted tools and machines ordinarily used for other purposes to the vital process of tearing down the worn shoes.

The plant quickly reached a total of 125,000 rebuilt pairs of shoes per month. The Buford plant's capacity is roughly two-thirds of the international set-up. The shoes pour into both plants by the freight car load.

They are unloaded and sorted as to condition, widths and sizes. Next comes the washing process. The shoes are tumbled about in soapy water, then sterilized for disease germs, including athlete's foot fungi.

About one-half of the worn-out shoes need new vamps, tips and complete bottoms, another 40 per cent need new insoles, welts, outsoles, tapsoles, and heels, saving the entire upper and counter. The remaining 10 per cent will be given new bottoms.

The finished salvage shoe possesses 90 per cent of the wear available in new Army shoes, and are more comfortable than new ones.

LEND-LEASE INQUIRY SEEKS TO FIX STATUS OF HOPKINS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Proponents of a senatorial investigation into lend-lease shipments to the Allies indicated today that they would seek an inquiry into the administration of this aid, without asking that it be curtailed.

One senator who asked not to be quoted, said that the role of Harry L. Hopkins, special assistant to President Roosevelt, was a main point on which clarification would be sought.

Sen. Butler said his resolution for a lend-lease investigation by the appropriations committee already had accomplished one of its chief purposes in the report which Lend-Lease Administrator Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., submitted to Congress yesterday. This aim, he told reporters, was to "satisfy the yen of the people to know what is being done with their billions."

Asserting that "no man is more anxious than I am to do everything to win the war," Butler said his purpose in asking the investigation was "entirely educational and constructive."

Sen. Wheeler said the taxpayers were "entitled to know whether food shipped to England and China is being given to the people or whether it is sold in the stores."

Stettinius' report said "lend-lease food shipments in 1943 are of No. 1 importance in the Soviet's great battle against the Nazi war machine," since "millions of the Soviet people are threatened with starvation, and the Soviet army needs food as well as tanks."

The report showed distribution of aid to Allied nations amounted to $8,253,000,000 from March 11, 1941, to the end of 1942.

PAPER CURBS FREE U. S. ADS

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 25 (AP)—The Savannah Morning News, asserting that restrictions on use of newsprint required a smaller paper, declared it could no longer give away advertising space to promote government programs.

"It is hoped that department heads will understand the changed status and not expect the newspapers to publish more than the actual news of their messages," the paper said.

Announcing also elimination of certain features, such as puzzles, some commentary columns and market leads, the paper told its readers the actual news report, however, would not be cut.

"The decision has been made to give readers the news and sacrifice such other features as may be necessary to provide the needed space under the reduced size of each issue," the paper declared.

"An ironical phase of the matter is that the government, from which the cut order came, will probably feel its effects more acutely than any other single agency."

Then pointing out the volume of space donated to promotion of their programs of the various government agencies from war bond sales to rationing, the paper declared, "but now it must be different, as space limitations will rule out or greatly reduce free space for promotion. Government agencies should not expect newspapers to continue their liberal policy toward them."

I called the police and they came very quickly. They stopped him before he had a chance to come upstairs. I had already locked myself in.

Mrs. Donnelly said that when finally she did go downstairs she saw her husband with the policeman. She said her butler later patched up the shattered door.

SHE ORDERED GIRL OUT

Q—What happened Oct. 26, 1942? A—It was 1:30 in the morning. I was asleep when Mr. Donnelly came home and called me out of my bedroom. I put on my robe and went downstairs. There were three girls and two men with him. At first I didn't recognize one of the girls, but then I did recognize Kay—(Judge Reynolds cautioned Mrs. Donnelly against using names), a night club singer with whom my husband had been seen very frequently. I asked her to leave my home, as she was not welcome there. Mr. Donnelly grabbed me by the hair and dragged me into the library in front of all those people. I called my father and he called the police. They came and took me to my father's home. As a result of that night's treatment, she said, she suffered from violent headaches for four days.

SAVS HE BEAT HER

Q—What happened Oct. 13, 1942? A—Mr. Donnelly called me around 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning and ordered me to leave my home and threatened me with bodily harm.

Q—What happened on Sept. 29, 1942? A—We quarreled. He struck me on the head and about the face and my housekeeper intervened.

Q—In July of 1942 what happened? A—Well, it was the latter part of July. Mr. Donnelly hadn't been home for 10 days and I hadn't had any word as to where he was. He came in early in the morning. I had a discussion with him about his actions and he struck me about the face and threatened me with bodily harm.

TORE HER JEWEL OFF

Q—In May, 1942 what happened. A—I had a very bad experience. It was late at night when he came home. I was asleep when he came into my bedroom (Mrs. Donnelly explained that she had her own suite) and tried to choke me. He tightened his grip until I was almost unconscious. He released his grip finally and said that the only reason for doing so was that he was giving me an hour to get out. I hastily packed a bag and went to my father's house.

Q—What took place in April, 1942? A (Refreshing her recollection from notes on tiny pieces of paper)—I had an evening gown on and a pendant. Mr. Donnelly had given an exact duplicate of it to a night club girl named Patricia. He tore it off my dress and scratched my neck.

NOT WITH HER OFTEN

Q—Has Mr. Donnelly been living with you regularly? A—No. For the past two and a half years he hasn't spent more than three nights a month with me—except last winter when I was dying, he saw me more frequently.

Q—How often would he be with you in the past six months? A—No more than I said. You see, he didn't spend the whole night. He would come in so late that I would hardly ever see him.

She testified further that last March, when she was convalescing in Florida and had a nurse attending her, Donnelly made a visit. They had an argument, she said, and he gave me a flying tackle and pulled me into the house by the hair.

AFTER ELECTION ROW

"On the night of the last Curley-Tobin election, after the returns were in, Mr. Donnelly wanted me to go to the Tobin home and congratulate the mayor. I declined.

"Mr. Donnelly threw me on the walk, leading from my father's home, and I hurt my shoulder. X-rays were taken which showed no fracture. However, I was incapacitated, and my wrist was injured.

"In December, 1939, he assaulted me very severely and attempted to throw me over a banister, from the third story of our home, which was then on Beaufort st. Our houseman rescued me.

"In November, 1939, he tore off some of my clothes, blackened my eye, and I was forced to remain in doors two weeks.

"In October, 1939, Mr. Donnelly struck me in the mouth and loosened my teeth, so much so that I had to receive 11 treatments for the injury."

WHEN SHE WAS BURNED

The witness then described a scene at her home at the time she was severely burned:

"My hands were dressed in bandages and resembled miniature box cars. Mr. Donnelly struck me and knocked me into a chair. I had raised my hands defensively and held them up, forgetting my injuries.

"Soon after I had been struck, I noticed the bandages had become blood soaked, and I sent for a physician, who gave me emergency medical treatment."

The witness detailed physical abuse over a long period, dating from about a year after the marriage.

She said: "I was a pretty continual thing to be abused by Mr. Donnelly, and in addition, he has subjected me to supreme humiliation, called me vile names, and has assaulted my family publicly. He has left me alone in New York city sometimes with friends and other times entirely alone. I have been forced to come home to Boston by myself."

Several corroborating witnesses were in the courtroom during her testimony

Nazis Report U. S. Troops Land in India

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The German radio in a broadcast heard here by the Associated Press said that "new contingents of United States troops have landed at Karachi (India) and several points on the Persian Gulf."

The report is without Allied confirmation.

Chief Boatwain Mate Hunter Wood, Coast Guard hero of the North African invasion, today declared a misunderstood command resulted in the saving of most of the crew of a torpedoed Army transport, which carried American troops for the invasion of Africa last November.

MISTAKEN COMMAND SAVES U. S. CREW IN AFRICA LANDING

Most of the crew of the torpedoed Army transport Leedstown, which carried American troops for the invasion last November of North Africa, were saved through a providential misunderstood command that was revealed today by Chief Boatwain Mate Hunter Wood.

Chief Wood, a native of New York city and a merchant seaman and commercial artist in private life, was ordered with his landing division of Coast Guardsmen to go to a certain beach on Algerian coast following a successful landing.

The order was given during an air attack by German bombers on the transports lying off the coast and because of the beaches were designated in a certain secret manner Chief Wood misunderstood the name in the din of the crashing bombs.

TELLS OF ERROR

The error was of no military importance, but it placed the Coast Guards in an excellent position to rescue the Leedstown crew and Army personnel when the vessel was torpedoed by an Italian submarine.

"The Leedstown," related Wood, "had been disabled when a Junkers torpedo plane dropped two torps at my own ship. Both missed by a scant few feet, but one smashed the steering engine of the Leedstown which lay astern of my ship.

"The following day the Leedstown weathered two dive-bombing attacks. She had swung around, with her bow pointing out to sea, and was laying only a mile offshore.

"We breathed a sigh of relief when we saw the bombs fall short, but no sooner had the bombers disappeared than we heard a terrific explosion and saw the Leedstown roll completely over on her port side. Then she swung back and lay on her starboard side.

LEAPED INTO SEA

"Men were jumping into the sea from all sections of the ship. When she righted some men cut loose the rafts and they managed to lower a tank lighter into the water.

"About this time the wind had freshened and the sea was working up. The surf built up to a point where I knew the men would be unable to make the beach.

"I took a party of men down to the beach, leaving a handful to man our machine guns, because there were still reports of German paratroop landings.

"We stripped down, attached lines to ourselves and waded into the surf. The wind was carrying nearly 30 rafts loaded with survivors toward shore. I could hear them laughing and joking above the howl of the wind. You can't face those boys.

"I could see at a glance that the men on the rafts were unaware of the force of the surf. I shouted for them to get off the rafts and hold on. Only a few men heard me. The surf upset the rafts on the men, drowning some and breaking legs and arms. Swimming at times, and wading, my group managed to pull almost everybody in."

Military leaders of the United States and Britain, it was reported, played a part in the talks. Fighting French sources here had maintained for weeks that any disagreements could be quickly ironed out if representatives of the two French factions met.

mans back from the Volga and down from the Don.

Premier Stalin singled out the armies on all the fronts in language that began like this:

"I congratulate the Red army men, the commanders and political workers . . . on their victory over the German Fascist invaders and their allies, Rumanians, Italians and Hungarians.

"I declare my appreciation to the command and to the gallant troops . . .

"Forward to the routing of the German invaders and their expulsion over the boundaries of our motherland."

This exhortation came after the Russians, in special and regular communiques, told of reclaiming all of strategic Voronezh from the Germans who had occupied its western section since the summer of 1942 when the Axis offensive began, culminating in the now-broken siege of Stalingrad.

The Russians also reported the capture of Belaya Glna, in the northern Caucasus, putting one of their armies within 40 miles of Tikhoretsk, a rail junction 90 miles south of Rostov.

Other spearheads aimed at Rostov were said to be 56 miles to the east of the city and 70 miles to the north.

Berlin Admits Russian

"Attacks in Violence"

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The German high command asserted today Russian thrusts on a wide part of the eastern front increased in violence yesterday.

The broadcast communique, recorded here, added:

"In severe defense against the enemy, who was several times superior in number, the German armies withstood all attempts of the Soviets to break through or cordon them off."

Again the communique gave a black picture of the plight of the German "defenders of Stalingrad," saying they were "concentrated in a narrow space in the southern and central district of the ruins of the town." It said they are "continuing heroic resistance, supported by the air force under the most difficult conditions."

Hopes to Be at Launching

Daniel Webster Prays He'll See Ship Launching

"Please, dear God, make the weather good on Thursday!"

That plea was an important part of the morning prayers of Daniel Webster, 4½-year-old Gilbert St. Malden, youngster today.

Daniel, several times great-grandnephew of the famed Massachusetts statesmen for whom he is named, is scheduled to take part in exercises launching the Liberty ship Daniel Webster at the South Portland, Me., shipyards on Thursday.

But little Danny is sick in bed with a cold which he is striving manfully to overcome. The doctor has told him that if Thursday is a good day, he probably can make the trip and help launch the vessel which the lad proudly refers to as "his ship."

Although Daniel won't christen the Liberty boat, he'll share honors with three other Bay State school children, who are participating in the launching ceremonies as an award for their prize-winning efforts in scrap collection drives in their schools.

Danny hopes to assist the sponsor, Imelda Owens, 13, of Sacred Heart Parochial School, West Lynn, and her two aides, Charles Fisher, 11, of the Shattuck School, Norwood, and William Plamondon, 15, of the Francis Parkman School, Jamaica Plain.

BERLIN ROAD HARD BUT SURE, F. D. TELLS TROOPS ABROAD

BELFAST, Jan. 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt, in a message read here today at ceremonies commemorating the first anniversary of the landing of United States troops in Northern Ireland, said: "From now on we think of attack—determined, unrelenting, smashing attack."

The message was delivered at a ceremony at City Hall by Maj. Gen. Russell P. Hartle, temporary commander of U. S. forces in Europe in the absence of Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"One year ago the first great convoy of American troops to cross the Atlantic in this war was landed in Northern Ireland," the President's message said.

"They came to buttress the grim defense of the besieged fortress of freedom."

"Things have changed greatly in these 12 months."

"We no longer think of defense. That is past."

"From now on and henceforth we think of attack, determined, unrelenting, smashing attack."

"Out troops and those of the United Kingdom, Canada and the other dominions of our allies have chafed at inaction."

"They will get action."

"The road to Berlin is long and hard, but it is very sure."

Prime Minister Andrews of northern Ireland said the happiest relationship exists between the American troops and the people of Ulster, and it is their wish the relationship continue after the war.

The ceremony, including the unveiling of a tablet, was brilliant. Every unit of the United States and British armed forces was represented, and British and American Army and U. S. Marine bands played.

Sir James Grigg, British secretary of state for war, said: "We want to be something more than wartime allies. We want to be comrades at arms. Our men are fighting for British ideals, but United States ideals and liberties are the same."

Woman, 80, Rescued In Boylston St. Fire

Mrs. Mary D. Row, 80, was rescued by her son, Richard, from their fifth floor apartment in Boylston st. early today when smoke seeped into their home from a fire in the basement of the drug store in the building. Mrs. Row, uninjured, was taken across the street to the Hotel Lenox. Fire damage to the drug store was estimated at $2500 by J. Tarr, manager.

Priest Devises Light Arctic Suit

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 26 (AP) — Rev. Bernard Hubbard, S. J., the Alaskan priest and Arctic explorer, revealed here that one of his contributions as civilian adviser to the western defense high command was a new suit for men working in Arctic temperatures that weighs only seven and a half pounds. This suit compares with 40 and 50-pound heavies that some men must wear in the sub-zero climes, Father Hubbard said. He was here to speak before the Loyola University of the South Forum.

The seven and a half pound suit was fashioned after those worn by the Eskimos and Siberians and is extremely light.

Directs Bundles Drive

By BETTY ALDEN

MR. JASPER WHITING would make an excellent news broadcaster—for pronouncing the tongue twisting names of battles, bays and bases which figure in every day headlines is a cinch to this widely travelled Boston socialite.

She has circled the globe numerous times visiting practically every corner of the world with the exception of Persia, Australia and New Zealand and has lived abroad a great deal.

She still travels but the territory she covers is limited by the boundaries of New England. As regional director of Bundles for America she frequently visits the 75 workrooms she has helped to establish in remote corners of the six states and whenever any of the members have a special celebration they call on her to come make a speech.

HER "OFFICE" is a desk in the Bundles' warehouse on Boylston st. Not a very glamorous setting for a woman accustomed to living in the finest hotels. But typical of many Beantown women who have put their shoulders to the wheel, Mrs. Whiting is holding down a man-sized volunteer job and loves every minute of it.

And it is a man-sized job when you consider that she directs all the N. E. branches and packs and ships to the Army and Navy anywhere from 1000 to 3000 garments a week. The garments are sweaters, socks and helmets sent to the warehouse from the branches, kit bags filled with small comforts for servicemen, and salvaged clothing for needy families of soldiers and sailors.

"Since last March we've been asked for well over 175,000 garments," she said yesterday. "The Army and Navy give us a quota and it's up to us to fill it."

"Our northernmost branch is in Richmond, Vt., a little town on the Canadian border where the women are doing a superb job of sewing, knitting and giving square dances and country fairs to raise money for Bundles."

ANOTHER ACTIVE WORKER

at Hampton, N. H., is in charge of live wire Mrs. Alfred Rosser. Almost single handed Mrs. Rosser established a canteen for servicemen on Hampton Beach last summer, organized parties for the Coast Guard boys and collects battery radios for men in lonely posts along the coast. The Saco, Me., branch has furnished recreation rooms at local Army barracks in addition to filling the requisition for sewing and knitting.

Mrs. Whiting's warehouse office is a few blocks up the street from the Boston workroom at 355 Boylston which is in charge of Mrs. A. L. West Mowbray. Mrs. Sidney Winslow, Jr., is assistant director in charge of shipping and works with Mrs. Whiting at the warehouse.

Fall River, Springfield, Worcester and Portland readers please note—Mrs. Whiting says there's a crying need for Bundles branches in your cities. In fact, the little N. E. towns seem to be outdoing the larger cities in providing the much needed garments which this organization distributes.

FISH, BROILERS PLENTIFUL, BEEF SCARCE

By PAULINE WARREN

Supplies of fresh beef, pork, lamb and smoked meats are still extremely short at all the stores. Fowl also is not quite so plentiful but there are plenty of roasting chickens and native broilers.

There is also a large variety of fish available at all the chains and whiting has made its appearance and is selling at about 12c a pound.

Haddock, however, is still the most popular fish and it's selling faster than ever since the meat shortage. Its price varies, from 39c a pound for fillets at the chains, to 25c a pound per whole fish at downtown fish markets.

All the stores seem to have large supplies of cold meats and the average housewife, who is using more of them than she ever has before, is discovering there is a vast difference between certain brands.

Bologna, for instance, instead of selling at one uniform price, varies from one brand at 27c a pound, to another which sells for 39c. Liverwurst remains fairly stable at 35c a pound and frankfurts also remain around 35c a pound, at least at the chains.

But in spiced ham, the shopper is bewildered at finding prices as varied as 25c and 45c a pound for a product which looks exactly the same. A higher grade of meat is used in the more expensive loaf. Such things as pepper and luxury loaf are still 35c a pound and veal loaf is around 29c a pound at most stores.

The scarcity of butter continues to tax a meal-planner's ingenuity. In addition to peanut butter she is finding cream cheese excellent as a spread. The chains have it in quantity. A six-ounce wedge-cut of cream cheese, which comes plain, or in different flavors, such as pimento, pineapple, olive and Neapolitan, sells for 20c.

Celery is coming in, in good quantity and quality, and is selling for as low as two large bunches for 29c at one chain. Parsnips, which are also of excellent quality right now, are two pounds for 15c at the help-yourself markets.

New cabbage has taken quite a drop, as it is coming in in greater quantity from Texas. It's now selling at 6c a pound at aid-yourselves and two pounds for 13c at other chains.

Fresh native eggs are holding at 51c a dozen at the help-yourself markets and 53c a dozen at other chains.

FISH—Mackerel and Herring, 12 cents; Steak Potatoes, 19 cents; Fresh Scrod Fillets, 35 cents; Fresh Smelts, 33 cents; Fresh Bluefish, 38 cents; Fresh Cod Breaks, 40 cents; Tongues and Chunks, 35 cents; Sea Scallops, 49 cents; Cape Scallops, $1.20; Freshly-Opened Oysters, 39 cents a pint; Freshly-smoked Finnan Haddock, 48 cents a pound.

POULTRY—Broilers, 29 cents a pound; Roasting Chickens, 40 to 47 cents a pound; Fowl, 38 cents and Turkeys, 13-18 pounds average, 49 cents a pound.

FRUITS—Kumquats, excellent for jams and pickling, have taken a big drop—now sell for 15 cents a basket; Florida Oranges—good for juices—3 dozen for 29 cents at one chain; Grapefruit—large, 5 for 19 cents, small, 5 for 25 cents; Grapefruit—new low prices—12 and 13 cents a pound; Ruby-red, 20 cents a pound; Strawberries, 35 cents a pint; Cooking Apples, 4 pounds for 23 cents; Lemons, 25 cents a dozen, and Tangerines, 29 cents a dozen.

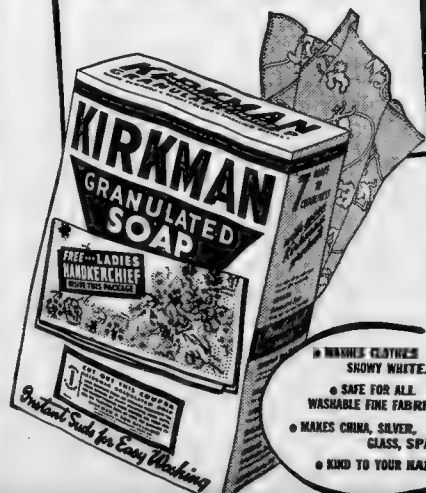

VEGETABLES—Cucumbers, 19 cents each; Radishes, 6 cents a bunch; Lettuce, 5-10-15 cents a head; Watercress, 10 cents a bunch; Scallions, 5 cents a bunch; Tomatoes, 29 cents to 49 cents a pound; Mushrooms, 59 cents a pound; Green Beans, 19-21 cents a pound; Broccoli, 23 to 27 cents a pound; Onions, 4 cents a pound; Turnips (very slight rise), 3 pounds for 16 cents; Squash, 3 pounds for 11 cents; Spinach, 2 pounds for 25 cents; Yams, 4 pounds for 25 cents; Carrots, 2 bunches for 17 cents, and Beets, also 2 bunches for 17 cents.

'Liquid Cool' Permanent Makes Its Debut

By ARLINE GOULD

NOTHING in the blood-and-thunder "continued next week" movie serials ever exceeded in excitement the surprises science has produced recently and will have in store for us in the very near future . . . and I think we might include among them the brand new permanent wave method which has arrived in town . . . and which, as they describe it, "washes" a wave into your hair!

It is not only a permanent wave without heat (you know even the machineless types produce heat via chemicals), it is one which brings an extreme sense of pleasurable relaxation. You never get oppressed and heavy-headed during it, because the curlers used are the lightest of plastics.

There is no such thing as "problem hair" to this new "liquid cool" permanent wave method . . . the kind of hair at which hairdressers have looked with doubtful eyes . . . dyed, bleached, baby-line, gray or brittle . . . has been given the most successful of permanents.

GET WAVE CLOSE TO THE SCALP

They say also that you couldn't possibly get a wave any closer to the scalp . . . for the effect of the "liquid cool" permanent approximates that of naturally curly hair.

You recline over a shampoo basin . . . your hair done up on the plastic curlers and swathed in a protective cap, under which a suction affair acts to "wash" in the wave . . . and that is the principal, most important span of minutes in any permanent wave which determines the success or the failure of the result. You can just imagine the glorious wave the average head of hair will take with this highly improved new method.

If this is to be your first short cut . . . take advantage of the grand styling available in the shop which sponsors this unique new "liquid cool" permanent.

For all further information, phone Arline Gould, LI-Berty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—There's much excitement about a new permanent wave method which "washes" the wave into the hair . . . says Arline Gould today . . . successful on any type of problem hair. Gail Russell poses.

Those Leftover Vegetables -- By Martha Lee

LEFTOVER VEGETABLES have always been one of life's annoying minor problems. We save them with the best of intentions. Only to discover them days later still in the refrigerator, and by then quite useless.

The secret of using leftovers successfully is to have some definite dish in mind as they go into the refrigerator. It's no use just putting them away in conveniently small glass jars merely hoping that they will come in handy, for that's something no leftover vegetable has ever yet managed to do.

USING SEASONING

Broccoli and Brussels sprouts are two of the more difficult problems because of their strong flavor. Both of these vegetables are greatly improved by the addition of a generous dash of sugar, as well as salt, when you cook them. Sugar brings out the more delicate flavors of all vegetables and should always be kept handy to use right along with the pepper and salt. Vegetables, of course, require very little sugar—half a teaspoonful to bunch of broccoli, for instance—but that little makes a lot of difference to the family's enjoyment of such important foods.

LEFTOVER SUGGESTIONS

Here are some suggestions for the use of leftovers. Broccoli may be made into a delightful cream soup, or if there is too much for soup arrange it on bottom of a shallow casserole, cover with thin slices of leftover chicken or meat or flaked fish, top with these sauce and brown in the oven.

Leftover Brussels sprouts make a delicious main dish—combined with cubed ham and sweet potatoes.

Other vegetables such as potatoes, carrots, turnips and peas combine beautifully under a rich thick curry sauce. Always save any liquid left from cooking vegetables. No matter how little—and, of course, there never should be much if vegetables are cooked correctly. Use it as part of the liquid in sauces or add hot water and a bouillon cube for a delicious consommé.

SOUTHERN PIE

- | | |
|--------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 1 cup sliced mushrooms | 1 cup cooked Brussels sprouts |
| 1 tsp. butter | |
| 1 tsp. flour | 2 cups mashed sweet potato |
| 1/4 cups stock, or | |
| 1/2 cups water and 1 | 2 tsp. milk |
| bouillon cube | 1 tsp. sugar |
| 2 cups diced ham, or | 1/2 tsp. salt |
| 2 cups any leftover meat | Dash allspice |

Cook mushrooms in butter until tender and lightly browned. Stir in flour, cook for a minute or so. Add stock, and stir until smooth and thickened. Add diced ham and Brussels sprouts. When thoroughly heated pour into a baking dish. Top with a crust of sweet potatoes mashed with milk and seasoned with sugar, salt and allspice. Bake in a hot oven (450 deg.

Love

And Marriage Wife's Plea Trivial

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

We've had eight years of absolutely happy married life. We adore our three children, our home, our pets. Then this thing happened.

My husband came home one night and I noticed a smear of lipstick on his collar. When I showed him this, he laughed heartily and said: "I intended to tell you about my little excursion, which really bored me."

It seems that a girl came into his office, soliciting money for some war project. She was pretty and cheap. She dared him to invite her to dinner. He did and they went to dinner, and she came home with a lipstick mark on his collar. He seemed amazed that I should take this thing seriously, insisting it meant nothing in the world to him and that he had never done anything of the sort before. This I believe to be true.

DISILLUSIONED.

In the first place, lipstick on a shirt collar is not grounds for divorce. And if she brought her case into court, granting any lawyer would take it, her charges would probably be greeted with merriment. And there are the children; she would deprive them of a home.

Doesn't she know that the majority of men are like that? He was flattered that the girl asked him to take her out, he had his little excursion which didn't prove very amusing, and that frankly was the end of it. No, my dear lady, don't wreck your home for anything so trivial.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Please tell me the correct form of my daughter's wedding announcements. She is marrying a junior officer in the Navy. I've heard that "Mr." must be placed before the name, and his rank on the line below. Is that correct?

A MOTHER.

The younger men of today definitely prefer that the "Mr." be omitted before their names, and that their rank, or rating if they are noncommissioned, be given on the line below the name.

NOT ALL slender silhouette dinner frocks have absolutely straight or clinging skirts . . . which is a help for figures which simply could not take them. This sophisticated dinner gown of black rayon "petit point" fabric has a slightly fuller skirt, though it gives the effect of straight-dropping slim lines. The bodice, with high neck and short sleeves is trimmed with brilliant "frogs" of small white rhinestones set widely apart and tied with strings of the fabric.—ANNICE BRINK.

NIFTY NEW HAT TONIC FOR TIRED WINTER WARDROBE

By BETTINA BEDWELL

TONIC for your tired winter wardrobes can be had in the shape of delightful, springlike details, which are coming out everywhere.

Of course, the most usual, and one of the most potent, is the spring hat. Any lots of new hats are made of sheer summer materials which, though beautiful to look at, practically guarantee a terrible head cold as the first result of wearing them.

There are also, however, felt hats in delicate colors that keep your head warm and give you the same lift. The Madame Pauline model sketched is one such. It is a pink felt toque, almost covered with pink felt flowers having red felt centers. Madame Pauline has made this toque so it can be worn back of a pompadour, or tilted forward over the right eyebrow. It's a real two-way hat, cleverly done.

A fox scarf, from Villa Zigmund, made entirely of silver fox tails is shown with the hat. This scarf is very exciting and as beautiful as one made of the entire fox skin.

Gold Star ★ Heroines

By ALICE BISSELL

SECOND LIEUT. JOHN F. FOGERTY will never circle his plane over his house again to let his wife know he's coming home.

For fifteen years a Marine aviator, Jack had been stationed at many places . . . Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands or wherever duty called him.

Always his lovely wife, Peggy, lived near the flying field. She knew what it was to worry when he was flying in bad weather. But always he flew low over their home to let her know he would be with her soon. She used to wait for this maneuver.

Then war came. He was sent to the South Pacific soon after Christmas in 1941. Last Thanksgiving news came that Jack had been killed in action at the age of 35.

"I can't realize it, and I never will. I haven't cried once. I still feel that he's flying. I know he is up there in the sky, flying," she says.

Peggy Fogerty, 29, mother of an eight-year-old daughter, is a typical American girl, and reflects the true spirit of young America today.

For her there are no mourning clothes. She ties her light hair in a yellow ribbon, and pins Jack's "wings" on her blue sweater. She

MRS. PEGGY FOGERTY, DAUGHTER, LOIS ANN

Gold Star Widow Wants to Join Marines

Is beautiful, slim, and blue-eyed, with a gentle voice and her thoughts are on the future.

Peggy has moved from Washington, where she lived a year, to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Leahy of Browning rd., Somerville.

"I shall not be here long," Peggy says. "As soon as the Marines start recruiting women, I'm going to join. I want to roll up my sleeves and work like a dog until the war is over. My daughter, Lois Ann, will live here with my family and go to school in Somerville."

Lois Ann is all for her mother joining the Marines.

"There is no time for sitting around," says Mrs. Fogerty. "We must leave it to the older people to philosophize, while we act and work. I feel worse for them. They have to sit and think, while we are geared to wartime living."

"It's too bad the Marines had to lose such a great aviator as Jack. Sometime, after our work is done, we may have time to think about the rewards of bravery."

She was unpacking some of her husband's things—his aviator's cap, his passports, a billfold with a picture of them laughing during a party on board ship before there was war.

"But how could I cry?" she suddenly turned and asked—and then told the story of her little gold-star daughter.

The telegram relative to her husband's death was sent to Somerville while Lois Ann was with her grandparents and Mrs. Fogerty was in Washington.

2d LIEUT. JOHN F. FOGERTY

Killed in Action

"I dare you!"

They, too, seem to

The Leahys telephoned Peggy and they decided to wait and have her break the news to Lois Ann. When her mother arrived a week later the little girl said:

"You don't have to say anything, Mama. I know already."

By chance she had been sitting on the stairs when the telegram came. She heard what they said. She went to school and never let on. The only thing they might have noticed was that she took out her Daddy's lieutenant's bars which he had sent her, and she pinned them on her dress.

"The day I heard he was killed," said Mrs. Fogerty, "I had to drive to Fort Belvoir. It was a bright, windy day with the sun shining. And the American flag was whipping up there in the wide open spaces. It was so beautiful, wild and high

... just daring anyone to knock it down!"

And Mrs. Fogerty is right. He is still flying, and his spirit quickens her and his brave daughter.

They, too, seem to be standing there, proud and high, saying:

There are others more handsome by far,
But my face I don't mind it,
For I am behind it;

THIS is the most quoted of all limericks. Most of the time it is wrongly credited to Woodrow Wilson. It was Mr. Wilson's favorite limerick and he often quoted it, but the author is Antony Euwer. It was first published in a Pittsburgh, Pa., newspaper . . . "I will never marry," recently stated champion miler Lou Zamperini, "because milers always become the fathers of daughters and I want sons. Who ever heard of a miler having a son?" Not wishing Mr. Zamperini to miss the undoubted joys of marriage and parenthood, I have looked into the matter and can inform him that the great milers, Paavo Nurmi, Abel Kiviat and J. D. Lightbody are all the proud fathers of handsome sons. Also that Jack Ryder, coach of Boston College, and once a champion miler has four sons. We trust that now he is in possession of this information, Mr. Zamperini will change his mind about matrimony and make some nice girl happy.

ASKING: Q—Have just noted New Orleans referred to as "America's Most Interesting City." How about this? A—New York is America's most interesting city. However, I will say that the Vieux Carre in New Orleans is the most interesting section of any American city. Q—How long is New York City's Broadway? A—15½ miles long. The longest street in the country is Figueroa st., Los Angeles, which is 48 miles long. Q—My name is Callahan. Have there been many celebrated Callahans? A—The Chicago White Sox once had a clever outfielder named Callahan. And Trixie Friganza's real name is Delia O'Callahan. That's the best I can do for you on the Callahans. But don't feel badly; the only celebrated Durl-ing I ever heard of was Ray Durling, the automobile racer. Q—Did Jesse James have three or four children? Rush answer as we are betting Havana cigars and not stogies. A—Mr. James had three children. That fact is recorded in the famous diary which goes in part:

Poor Jesse had a wife to mourn for his life,
Three children they were brave,
But the dirty little coward that shot Mr. Howard
Has laid poor Jesse in his grave.

LOVE, ETC.: "Have been carrying around the enclosed clipping for some time," writes an Army wife. "It describes just how I feel about my husband. Will you reprint it and dedicate it to Lieut. Cecil J. Bye, U. S. Army?" What is on this clipping follows: "If I love a man," said Maria Corelli, "I should love him so completely that I should never think of anything in which he had not the first and greatest share. I should see his kind looks in every ray of sunshine. I should hear his loving voice in every note of music. If I were to read a book I should wonder which sentence of it would please him most. If I plucked a flower I should ask myself if he would like to wear it. I should live through him and for him. He would be my very eyes and heart and soul."

PASSING BY: W. S. Hart. Best of all actors in so-called "Westerns." Guess I saw about every picture Bill made but never saw him on the stage when he was a Shakespearean actor. He once played Romeo to Julia Arthur's Juliet. I would like to have seen that . . . Edna St. Vincent Millay. Though she is said to have received an average of eight proposals of marriage a week when in her twenties, Edna did not marry until she was 31. When she wrote that poem about "Burning the Candle at Both Ends" that gave "a lovely light" she was single and living in Greenwich Village.

PLEASE NOTE: The tail-gun added to the Boeing Flying Fortress caught the Japs so much by surprise that 98 Nipponese planes were shot down before one could return to its base to break the news of the New Yankee invention . . . George Whitehouse, 77, of Cheslyn Way, England, has not missed a day at work in 68 years. Mr. Whitehouse has been working all that time at what some people claim is the hardest job of all occupations. He is a coal miner.

GRIEVED BY SUDDEN DEATH OF ALEXANDER WOOLLCOTT

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, MONDAY—The news reached me yesterday of the death of Mr. Alexander Woollcott. He has known, and all of his friends have for many months, that this threat hung over him, but he wanted to work and he did. These last few months, I think, he did as good work as at any time in his life and was happy doing it.

I spent an hour with him not long ago in his Gotham hotel workroom. He sat and talked over the last war and this one, our mistakes in between, what we must do to obviate their repetition and what he, himself, was trying to do. He talked of his friends, of the "anthology of American literature," which he had done with an eye to providing the boys in the service with something they would like to have with them wherever they were. This book will be out, I believe, in February, and I know the choices will be such that they will meet a variety of literary tastes. It will be a book one can live with for many days.

Life with Alexander Woollcott gone will lose some of its flavor. He had agreed to come back and spend a little time with us within the next few weeks. In spite of his foibles and eccentricities, or perhaps because of them, he was an enchanting guest. He told stories so well, he had known so many people and had an unending fund of material for conversation.

He loved to be the center of the group, and yet many of his younger friends, of whom he had a host, will attest to the fact that on occasion he could listen. He gave their problems real thought and, when asked, gave advice to the best of his ability. If they failed to take it he never held it against them. I am glad to have the memory of his friendship, though I only came to know him well a few years ago. I shall miss him. His own country has lost a patriot and the world a good citizen.

Yesterday we enjoyed having the whole cast of Maxwell Anderson's "Eve of St. Mark's" give the play here at tea. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rice were with them. We had them come in the afternoon instead of the evening, as we usually do, because we felt that having to walk here after the play would make it very difficult for them.

I had seen the play in New York city, so only attended last night for a short time. Quite frankly, they act too well. The whole play is still too real to me. It wrings the heart and makes one suffer, and I only hope it makes us also firmer in our determination that the things which we see on that stage will never again be realities.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—Kay Aldridge, the starlet, and Lawrence Rockefeller, the lieutenant, are a heartily barge. Mayor LaGuardia and Police Commr. Valentine are considering a "teen-age curfew" to combat the rising wave of juvenile delinquency. . . . Steve Crane's next big headache will be back alimony charges pressed by the girl who was his wife before he "married" Lana Turner. . . . Richard Whorf, the actor who plays Sam Harris in "Yankee Doodle Dandy," is ailing after an operation for gallstones. . . . Patricia Dorsey, 17-year-old daughter of Tommy Dorsey, will marry Lester Hooker, fellow-student at William and Mary College, next summer. . . . Adele Jorgens' long distance calls (in Hollywood) come from one of the ten biggest bachelors in Washington, D. C.

ALAN CURTIS, who's divorcing Ilona Massey, and Venita Varden, who's doing the same to Kay Oakie, are consoling each other. . . . Jim Farley's trip to Mexico in the near future will be business, not politics. . . . Errol Flynn has lost more than 15 pounds since his arrest in the "attack" case. Smart Hollywood money is wagering he'll be acquitted. . . . Al Jolson's newest twitwattation is Beverly Whitney, the brunette show-girl. . . . Clifford Odets now carries his own butter into all restaurants. . . . Edgar James, Paulette Goddard's ex, and Ann Lucas, a Longchamps hostess, are a heart throb. . . . Joy Coleman, of the Diamond Horseshoe, is the secret bride of Sonny Schuyler, Vincent Lopez's vocalist. . . . Gene Tierney's parents have received their final divorce decree. . . . The Walter Wangers (Joan Bennett) expect the stork to arrive on July 4.

GYPSY ROSE LEE, who's divorcing Alexander Kirkland and carrying a torch for another fellow, is forgetting the whole thing with Rick Rober, of the cast of her show.

THE MARCH of EVENTS

By BENJAMIN DECASSERES

Copyright, 1943, by International News Service

THE ALL-OUT DOMINANCE of the government at Washington during the war is a good thing for all Americans. It is a sort of object lesson in totalitarianism and its great dangers in peace time. Today it is necessary for us to feel what a touch of Nazism and Communism is like. It's like a trial marriage—and from the very face we made at the last election we do not like it a bit for a life-long union.

I do not think any one knows what's going to happen after this war, but I'd like to venture one prediction and that is a violent reaction toward old-fashioned, fundamental Americanism, with Willkie, Wallace, Hopkins and Frankfurter out for 20 years at least.

IN FIFTY YEARS from now it is most likely that no public structure of any kind—dwelling-house, office-building, factory or place of amusement—will be permitted to be built without bomb-proof vaults, for we are moving into the new cave-man era.

I was recently looking at some pictures by Hugh Ferriss of the George J. Atwell projected tunnelling of the New Jersey-New York palisades.

To put in sanitary and living arrangements is a colossal job, but that's what we Americans have always been doing. Eventually we shall have vast cities underground. All of San Francisco's hills will be underground homes, with systems of ventilation, card-rooms, dancing-halls, movie auditoriums and beer saloons—or do I run ahead of myself?

But the subterranean human race is on the way—something even that Jules Verne and H. G. Wells never dreamed in the most riotous jags of their imaginations. Progress? O shucks, alas! as Ernest Boyde would say. Progress, messieurs and mesdames, is "back to the cave-man!"

A RADIO SPEAKER blandly said the other day that "all this talk about a Communist menace was disproven in the last election" because the Communist party of New York State had polled only 40,000 votes.

Nothing is more specious. It merely means that the word Communist being no longer respectable (you can be sued for libel for calling a man a Communist), the Reds and the rest of the anti-American plotters and planners have taken other names. The Red Revolutionists of all shades have taken over the Prohibitionists' technique of 1920. The Prohibition Party polled a microscopic vote in this country, but a prohibition amendment was inserted into the Constitution, with 46 States assenting.

The Red menace is greater than ever because it is now dressed as Little Red Riding Hood.

ONE OF THE best things about this war is the number of books, fictional and otherwise, that dig up our history. It is time we became more America-conscious—particularly in our schools. Here are two good books on early American history. They combine history with readable stories.

The first is "Rivers of Glory," by F. Van Wyck Mason (Lippincott). We are at Lexington, Boston, New York and Savannah during the Revolution. And there's Minga Allen, who of course is "beautiful." The thrill of our great days is in "Rivers of Glory."

"Morning in America," by Willard Wiener (Farrar & Rinehart), gives us a picture of a little-known Revolutionary general, the English-born Charles Lee, brave, brilliant, roystering, dog-loving, wench-chasing. He was, at one time, second in command to Washington and was tried for refusing to follow orders at the Battle of Trenton. This book has however, a lot of unnecessary filth in it.

HOW 1801 sounds like 1939-42:

"Address to all ranks and descriptions of Englishmen. 'Friends and Countrymen—The French are now assembling the largest force that ever was prepared to invade this kingdom, with the professed purpose of effecting our complete ruin and destruction. They do not disguise their intentions, as they have often done to other countries; but openly boast that they will come over in such numbers as cannot be resisted.'"

That was posted everywhere throughout England as Napoleon in his "flat-bottoms" by the thousands prepared from Boulogne to invade Britain. Substitute for "the French" "the Germans" and you will see how history periodically describes a circle.

"About once a week there appeared in the newspapers a paragraph concerning some adventurous English gentleman who had sailed out in a pleasure-boat till he lay close enough to Boulogne to see Bonaparte standing on the heights amid his marshals," says Thomas Hardy in "The Trumpet Major," a book you ought to read.

Has Hitler stood on the rocks of Boulogne with his gangmen surveying the English coast through field-glasses? If so, no "English gentleman" has rowed out to look at him. If he did he wouldn't, in these days, return. But I don't think Hitler himself has ever been so near to England, for those old-fashioned "English gentlemen" of 1801 are now the RAF, which drops things on every busybody standing on the rocks at Boulogne.

Hollywood Today

VIVIEN LEIGH TO MAKE NEXT
FILM IN BRITAIN

By Louella O. Parsons

Copyright, 1943, by International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26—Vivien Leigh is booked to make a picture, but not in Hollywood. The many hopeful film makers who have persuaded David Selznick to cable her, can forget the lovely Leigh until the war is over. Arrangements have been made for her to star in "The Spinster in the Parish" for the Two Cities Co., the same organization that produced Noel Coward's "In Which We Serve."

The reason I know Vivien is getting ready to make a picture is because David Selznick acting for the British company, tried to get John Farrow to direct, but Paramount holds John's contract and there isn't a chance of his being permitted to go abroad to make a movie. Not after "Wake Island" and "The Command—A Strike at Dawn." John was with the Royal Canadian Navy for nearly two years and is itching to get back in the service but his doctors say no.

WHEN JESSE LASKY gets an idea it is always an ambitious one. He is not only all wrapped up getting ready to make "The Life of George Gershwin" but he is personally inviting the men who were closest to George when he was alive to play "themselves" in the movie. These friends sound like an all-star cast in their own right. There's Oscar Levant for one. Then Fred Astaire, Al Jolson, Deems Taylor and even Buddy De Sylva, now head man on the Paramount lot. Knowing the way all these men admired and loved George I'm betting not one turns down the invitation.

ROBERT KANE ★ ★ ★ in Hollywood to stay. He has made eight trips to England since the war and he feels that he wants to put his feet under a desk in the U. S. A. now and do his picture-making here. He is looking for a story, which he will produce as soon as he finds one. I hear, very confidentially, that Sir Alex Korda may sign a contract with 20th and if he does it seems more than likely that he will make that long talked of picture in England for this company. Alex has said repeatedly that he will do nothing until he returns to London and finds out where he can best serve. Undoubtedly his best service could come from film making, which is so important.

GLORIA STUART, beautiful blonde, who was going strong as an actress before she became interested in politics and took to speechmaking, is coming back. I'm not saying Gloria's strong views hurt her career, for she bowed out of the movies when she decided to go on a trip around the world with her husband, Arthur Sheekman, well known writer. Gloria and Arthur were gone about three years when war broke out. In fact, they were among the last Americans to leave Japan. Now Gloria is finished with roaming and is heading back to Hollywood to make a picture, provided she gets the right role.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Nelson Eddy is a changed boy since he has been on the Universal lot. If there was ever one thing Nelson was temperamental about it was his recordings. So when a new little messenger girl on the "U" lot mistakenly opened the door on a sound stage where Nelson, Susanna Foster and 60 musicians were recording a number from "Martha" for "Phantom of the Opera," everybody expected the skies to fall. The musicians groaned with rage, the maestro almost threw his baton, but Nelson went over to the poor kid, who was weeping, laughed and said: "Come on in. There's no sense in hearing just half of 'Martha'. We'll do it all over for you from the beginning."

A LINE OR TWO: Rita Hayworth returned last evening from Palm Springs where she spent the week-end following her suspension from Columbia. She has rented an apartment and will farm out her dog "Genius" given to her by Victor Mature and named in his honor. Vic, by the way, is at sea.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: They say the love scenes between Simone Simon and Michael Whelan in "Tahiti Honey" are on the level; Ed Judson, once married to Rita Hayworth, out with a young and beautiful blonde; Jimmie Gleason has been desperately ill with flu. Count any week lost when Rudy Vallee doesn't escort a pretty girl somewhere. Now it is Kathleen Drew who is attracting his attention; Natalie Draper and Merrill Pye are only waiting for Natalie's ma to come here before they announce their engagement; the casting that is sure-fire is Marjorie Main as Eugene Pallette's wife in Ernst Lubitsch's "Heaven Can Wait." Maybe it can but I can't— to see them together; Jimmie Ritz lost a diamond and platinum money clip while on a tour of the camps and has received a package from Pvt. Joe Menkin who found the clip.

FILM EXTOLS NAVY FAMILIES

"While warships point their guns skyward against the enemy, while men are lost or rescued in oily waters, life still flows on its way among civilians on shore—not free from fear and anguish, but still clinging to the old ways of peace, as if those ways of normalcy are a token of love and devotion to the men who hazard their lives on ships.

"In Which We Serve," Noel Coward's drama of the life of a destroyer, coming to Loew's State and Orpheum screens on Thursday, is not only a tribute to the Royal Navy and to its destroyers, but to the families of the men who serve on these ships. The women and children leading their lives on shore form a background of love and hope for these men.

The captain's wife, Mrs. Kinross, saves her two children, Lavinia and Bobby, from anxiety, and relates to them only the good news of their father's safety. Mrs. Hardy, wife of the chief petty officer, refuses to seek shelter in the country and braves bombs in order that she will not abandon her husband's home—the one in which he would expect to find her—nor neglect his garden.

There are glimpses of her clearing the dinner table and cutting patterns for some garment, while her niece, Freda, who is expecting Shorty Blake's baby, knits, and while bombs whistle.

The courage and steadfastness of these women—while fear of bad news from the sea gnaws at their hearts—is a challenge to all women in all lands.

Czech as Guest Conductor

George Szell, the noted Czechoslovakian conductor, will make his initial appearance here when he conducts as guest the Friday afternoon and Saturday evening symphony concerts in Symphony Hall. Program will include Schubert's Symphony in C major, No. 7, and two numbers by Smetana, the first important composer from his own people. They will be the string quartet in E minor, "From My Life," and the symphonic poem, "The Moldau."

Szell began his career as a brilliant pianist but soon devoted his energies to conducting, holding high positions in Berlin, Vienna and Prague.

Edward Everett Horton Great In 'Springtime for Henry'

By PEGGY DOYLE

No wonder Edward Everett Horton has no yearning to play Hamlet. His Henry Dewlip, which he has been playing on and off for the past decade, becomes more amusing with the year 1943 and this morning the Colonial first-nighters are probably wearing welts on their palms after all the applause they gave him so heartily and so deservedly.

Candidly, your play reporter showed up at the "Springtime for Henry" opening with very little enthusiasm. The Benn W. Levy farce, which reached its 11th birthday last December, brought Mr. Horton here in the flesh in May, 1940. Some of us caught him at Dennis when he and his ever-loving Henry collaborated on some record-smashing. There was a rash of "strawhat" Henrys, or rather rashes, before the war and gasoline rationing. And, confidentially, none of them, including Mr. H's ever seemed very funny.

Well, last night I came, I saw Henry and he conquered me . . . completely. Is it the war and the urge to escape from the realities of the headlines? Is it that Mr. Horton is now playing Henry Dewlip straight and not, to put it elegantly, "horsing it up"? Is it a lack of awareness that has kept your correspondent from hitherto evaluating this belly-laughing field-day properly?

Whatever the reason, may we counsel you to make a date and soon to see "Henry" and let yourself in for some rib-racking laughter? Edward Everett Horton's larking bachelor is one of the notable joys of a season that has already generously given us "The Eve of St. Mark," "Something for the Boys" and the new "Ziegfeld Follies."

Hollywood's celebrated host and comedy star who'd rather make people laugh in the theater than be President chalked up a lot of personal satisfaction as a result of last night's performance. His quietly sarcastic, elaborately patient, tirelessly amorous Henry Dewlip should be a footlights must for the duration. He, if, anybody, is ideally designed to get your mind off income tax and oil worries and on to the lighter side of life.

And, side by side with him in this herculean task, is Johnny Jelliwell, a thoroughly likeable

chap who finds his marital happiness threatened when that rakehell, Dewlip, reforms, gives up Mrs. Julia Jelliwell and condemns the Jelliwells to too jolly much of their own society. Gavin Muir's Johnny Jelliwell suited the paying customers and this working press pew-holder to the hilt.

On the distaff side, it can be reported that the casting was equally discriminating. Eleanor "Sis" Frothingham, who makes a brief but beautiful appearance when the curtain goes up (she is the stenographer who gets chased by Henry), Eleanor Lawson, playing Miss Smith, who shot her husband in the Touraine and was acquitted because in France they don't hang you for that, and Marjorie Wilson, as the questing Julia Jelliwell, are equally eye-soothing. With these three charmers decorating it at odd, even embarrassing, moments, it is quite understandable that Henry concentrated his chasing within the attractive pale-blue walls of his London flat.

Films Finally Win Miss Cornell

Katharine Cornell, the only one of the American theater's great personalities who has never appeared in a motion picture, is facing film cameras for the first time in her life. The film is Sol Lesser's "Stage Door Canteen," which glorifies the work of the American Theater Wing's entertainment home for servicemen in New York, where stage celebrities of Miss Cornell's caliber prepare and serve food and furnish recreation for thousands of men in the armed services daily.

America's only actress-manager, who for years has said a polite but definite "no" to attractive offers from filmland, breaks her rule of years. For the benefit of the American Theater Wing, which will receive all profits from the film, and to which she will turn over the nominal salary of $1000 for her performance, Miss Cornell appears as herself in a sequence showing theater stars at work in the Canteen.

Miss Cornell is currently presenting and appearing in a new production of Anton Chekhov's celebrated Russian drama, "The Three Sisters," in New York.

Russian Army's Skiing Skill Highlights Normandie's Film

"In the Rear of the Enemy," the new Russian-made film in which all the actors speak English, has been described as the story of a Soviet Sergt. York. It opens tomorrow on the Normandie screen.

The superb skiing skill and

HERBERT MARSHALL

dearly snow-fighting tactics displayed by the Red army in the film are not mere figments of a scenario writer's imagination. They are facts of life acquired by most Russians at a tender age.

Under the peacetime guidance of the Society for Aviation and Civilian Defense, millions of Russians acquired proficiency on skis long before the Nazis invaded their country. Now, in war time the annual Red Army Day is observed by nationwide ski festivals.

As soon as snow has fallen behind the Urals, Red Army instructors began training new recruits in the special arts of shooting, hand-to-hand fighting and scouting on skis. Among the most famous of these ski coaches is a woman, Zoya Bolotova, who holds a national championship.

The film's English dialogue was written by Lionel Britton and directed by Herbert Marshall, who also speaks the part of the lieutenant. Nikolai Kruchikov played the role of Soviet Boikov in the new Soviet film, his last before he left the Moscow Film Studio to join his reserve regiment at the front.

FILM EXTOLS NAVY FAMILIES

"While warships point their guns skyward against the enemy, while men are lost or rescued in oily waters, life still flows on its way among civilians on shore—not free from fear and anguish, but still clinging to the old ways of peace, as if those ways of normalcy are a token of love and devotion to the men who hazard their lives on ships."

"In Which We Serve," Noel Coward's drama of the life of a destroyer, coming to Loew's State and Orpheum screens on Thursday, is not only a tribute to the Royal Navy and to its destroyers, but to the families of the men who serve on these ships. The women and children leading their lives on shore form a background of love and hope for these men.

The captain's wife, Mrs. Kinross, saves her two children, Lavinia and Bobby, from anxiety, and relates to them only the good news of their father's safety. Mrs. Hardy, wife of the chief petty officer, refuses to seek shelter in the country and braves bombs in order that she will not abandon her husband's home—the one in which he would expect to find her—not neglect his garden.

There are glimpses of her clearing the dinner table and cutting patterns for some garment, while her niece, Freda, who is expecting Shorty Blake's baby, knits, and while bombs whistle.

The courage and steadfastness of these women—while fear of bad news from the sea gnaws at their hearts—is a challenge to all women in all lands.

'Follies' Writers Tin Pan Alley Aces

Lester Lee and Jerry Seelen, who have written some of the material and songs of the new "Ziegfeld Follies" at the Shubert Theatre, are two of the highest paid Tin Pan Alley writers. One of their recent numbers, "The Pennsylvania Folks," is a highspot of the puppeteer number in the "Follies." They are the composers of Joe E. Lewis's two song hits, "Poor Little February" and "The H. V. Kaltenborn Blues."

Czechoslovak Guest Conductor

George Szell the noted Czechoslovakian conductor, will make his initial appearance here when he conducts a guest the Friday afternoon and Saturday evening symphony concerts in Symphony Hall. Program will include Schubert's Symphony in C major, No. 7, and two numbers by Smetana, the first important composer from his own people. They will be the string quartet in E minor, "From My Life," and the symphonic poem, "The Moldau."

Szell began his career as a brilliant pianist but soon devoted his energies to conducting, holding high positions in Berlin, Vienna and Prague.

Edward Everett Horton Great In 'Springtime for Henry'

By PEGGY DOYLE

No wonder Edward Everett Horton has no yearning to play Hamlet. His Henry Dewlip, which he has been playing on and off for the past decade, becomes more amusing with the year 1943 and this morning the Colonial first-nighters are probably wearing welts on their palms after all the applause they gave him so heartily and so deservedly.

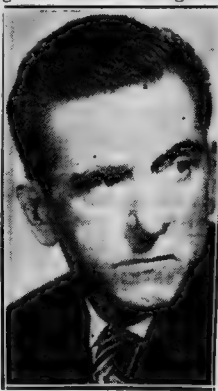

Candidly, your play reporter showed up at the "Springtime for Henry" opening with very little enthusiasm. The Benn W. Levy farce, which reached its 11th birthday last December, brought Mr. Horton here in the flesh in May, 1940. Some of us caught him at Dennis when he and his ever-loving Henry collaborated on some record-smashing. There was a rash of "strawhat" Henrys, or rather rashes, before the war and gasoline rationing. And, confidentially, none of them, including Mr. H's ever seemed very funny.

Well, last night I came, I saw Henry and he conquered me... and a capacity audience... completely. Is it the war and the urge to escape from the realities of the headlines? Is it that Mr. Horton is now playing Henry Dewlip straight and not, to put it elegantly, "horsing it up"? Is it a lack of awareness that has kept your correspondent from hitherto evaluating this belly-laughing field-day properly?

Whatever the reason, may we counsel you to make a date and soon to see "Henry" and let yourself in for some rib-wracking laughter? Edward Everett Horton's larking bachelor is one of the notable joys of a season that has already generously given us "The Eve of St. Mark," "Something for the Boys" and the new "Ziegfeld Follies."

Hollywood's celebrated host and comedy star would rather make people laugh in the theater than be President chucked up a lot of personal satisfaction as a result of last night's performance. His quietly sarcastic, elaborately patient, tirelessly amorous Henry Dewlip should be a footlights must for the duration. He, if anybody, is ideally designed to get your mind off income tax and oil worries and on to the lighter side of life.

And, side by side with him in this herculean task, is Johnny Jellwell, a thoroughly likeable

chap who finds his marital happiness threatened when that rakehell, Dewlip, reforms, gives up Mrs. Julia Jellwell and condemns the Jellwells to too jolly much of their own society. Gavin Muir's Johnny Jellwell suited the paying customers and this working press pew-holder to the hilt.

On the distaff side, it can be reported that the casting was equally discriminating. Eleanor "Sis" Frothingham, who makes a brief but beautiful appearance when the curtain goes up (she is the stenographer who gets chased by Henry). Eleanor Lawson, playing Miss Smith, who shot her husband in the Touraine and was acquitted because in France they don't hang you for that, and Marjorie Wilson, as the queering Julia Jellwell, are equally eye-soothing. With these three charmers decorating it at odd, even embarrassing, moments, it is quite understandable that Henry concentrated his chasing within the attractive pale-blue walls of his London flat.

Films Finally Win Miss Cornell

Katharine Cornell, the only one of the American theater's great personalities who has never appeared in a motion picture, is facing film cameras for the first time in her life. The film is Sol Lesser's "Stage Door Canteen," which glorifies the work of the American Theater Wing's entertainment home for servicemen in New York, where stage celebrities of Miss Cornell's caliber prepare and serve food and furnish recreation for thousands of men in the armed services daily.

America's only actress-manager, who for years has said a polite but definite "no" to attractive offers from filmland, breaks her rule of years. For the benefit of the American Theater Wing, which will receive all profits from the film, and to which she will turn over the nominal salary of $1000 for her performance, Miss Cornell appears as herself in a sequence showing theater stars at work in the Canteen.

Miss Cornell is currently presenting and appearing in a new production of Anton Chekhov's celebrated Russian drama, "The Three Sisters," in New York.

Russian Army's Skiing Skill Highlights Normandie's Film

"In the Rear of the Enemy," the new Russian-made film in which all the actors speak English, has been described as the story of a Soviet Sergt. York. It opens tomorrow on the Normandie screen.

The superb skiing skill and

deadly snow-fighting tactics displayed by the Red army in the film are not mere figments of a scenario writer's imagination. They are facts of life acquired by most Russians at a tender age.

Under the peacetime guidance of the Society for Aviation and Air Defense, millions of Russians acquired proficiency on skis long before the Nazis invaded their country. Now, in war time the annual Red Army Day is observed by nationwide ski festivals.

As soon as snow has fallen behind the Urals, Red Army instructors begin training new recruits in the special arts of shooting, hand-to-hand fighting and scouting on skis. Among the most famous of these ski coaches is a woman, Zoya Bolotova, who holds a national championship.

The film's English dialogue was written by Lionel Britton and directed by Herbert Marshall, who also speaks the part of the lieutenant, Nikolai Kruchkov played the role of Scout Boikov in the new Soviet film, his last before he left the Moscow Film Studio to join his reserve regiment at the front.

SCHOOLGIRL GETS PAROLE

Pretty Helen Rheame, 18-year-old Lawrence High School senior, was free of court action today after promising Judge J. Arthur Baker in Essex County Superior Court at Salem that she would "be a good girl."

The judge placed her on probation after she had pleaded guilty to perjury in lying to the court at the request of two Lawrence tavern keepers who were charged with serving beer to her, a minor. The tavern keepers, Philip LaVole, 31, and his partner, Herbert Morin, were fined $200 and $150 respectively.

Calling the girl to the bench, Judge Baker told her in fatherly fashion: "It distresses me very much to see a nice looking girl like you in this mess. I can't understand the younger generation—how they can run around the way they do, going into taverns and drinking."

"You have a long life ahead of you and plenty of time for that sort of thing. I'm going to place you on probation—but only on the condition that you promise me to be a good girl."

Marblehead Flier Wins Second Award

A young Marblehead Navy flying instructor today possessed his second award for heroism received within four months. He is Lieut. Brainard F. Macomber, of Mansfield, Marblehead, one of five instructors at the Meibourne, Fla. Naval Air Station to be decorated for heroism while flying against the Japanese in the Pacific. Lieut. Macomber was awarded a Gold Star in lieu of a second Navy Cross. He won the Navy Cross last September for similar heroism.

VETS OF 3 WARS TO MASS FLAGS IN BIRTHDAY BALL PAGEANT

Fighters of the present global conflict, World War I and the Spanish American War will join in presenting a military spectacle of inspiring significance as a feature of the President's Birthday Ball in Boston Garden Friday night, U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon, committee chairman, announced today.

Crack drill teams from the Army, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard will march shoulder to shoulder with veterans of past wars in a massing of colors. More than 1200 men, with battle-scarred banners, will participate in the demonstration, Brandon said.

Greater Boston bands taking part will include St. Anne's C. Y. C. of Dorchester, Bell Telephone Co., Sacred Heart Crusaders Drum Corps, Old Dorchester Post, A. L. Drum Corps, House of the Angel Guardian, William L. Harris Post, A. L.; Roxbury Post, A. L., and

Junior Army Members Gather Kitchen Fats

Gathering kitchen fats from which the government derives glycerine, an important ingredient in making of explosives, 200 boys and girls of Dorchester House, 1353 Dorchester ave., including Junior Victory Army members, are doing their bit to help win the war.

Their collections are being made in house-to-house canvasses of the neighborhood. The children carry identification cards which explain to housewives that all donations go to Dorchester House, a beneficiary of the Greater Boston United War Fund.

Cub Scouts are among the most active in this drive and of these Alfred King, Richard Hanna, Fred Dacey, Richard Reynolds and Robert Vandervander are said to be the busiest.

Also in the drive is Troop 6 of the Boy Scouts, which made a survey of iron fences as possible sources of scrap metal, Troops 15 and 25 of the Girl Scouts, Brownies and Camp Fire Girls.

Girls of Dorchester House meet twice weekly to make surgical dressings and to attend cooking classes in which economy of preparation and well-balancing of diets are stressed.

In the group are Louise O'Connor, Dorothy O'Connor, Mildred O'Connor, Jean Seidel, Doris Malone, Mary Flaherty, Alice Murray, Clare Murphy and Earldine Roswell.

(To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. You will be enrolled. If, in addition, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin (well-wrapped) in your letter.)

13th Nazi Spy Shot in London

LONDON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Franciscus Johannes Winter, a 40-year-old German spy who came to Britain in the guise of a refugee, was executed today in Wandsworth prison, the home office announced.

Winter arrived last July 31 at a British port as a passenger on a British ship and told immigration authorities he escaped from Belgium and made his way across France to Spain. British authorities questioned his story, and he finally admitted the journey was arranged by the German secret service to get reports on convoy movements.

Winter, tried in secret, was convicted and sentenced to death Dec. 4. He was the 13th spy to die in Britain since the start of the war, equalling the number executed in World War I.

Listen, World! 24 Hi, Neighbor!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHEN I broke my shoulder last Spring and lay for so many weeks in bed, I used to look forward to one special hour. It was the hour when my long-time friend and doctor would come racing up the stairs shouting, "Hi, Neighbor!"

My doctor's across the seas now, bossing grimmer jobs than broken shoulders. But I hope he's still remembering and using that welcome cry, "Hi, Neighbor!" For I doubt if even he, wise as he is, can quite realize what that greeting means to the fellow who has been shut apart with his pain and discouragement.

Physical pain is always a tiresome thing. But if you have any spunk you can manage to take it. It's the other thing that gets you down—the sense of loneliness and uselessness, the feeling that you don't count.

And then two words come laughing up the stair—"Hi, Neighbor!"

I wonder if my doctor ever knew the healing those words brought. He was the leading surgeon in our town. But he did more than set our shins and ribs. He set our lives in place. And I hope he's reading this somewhere.

"HI, NEIGHBOR!"

If ever a phrase was made to answer the need of a war torn world, and heal our own wounds, it is that.

"HI, NEIGHBOR!"

Say it to the next wrung out stranger you meet. Say it to the befuddled kid who's next on the assembly line. Say it to the youngster in camp who waited vainly for news from home.

IT'S ONE MAGIC SLOGAN WHICH WILL WIN A LASTING PEACE.

That new tax plan is to skip the year 1942 which is gone anyway.

It's the old Ben Franklin plan of paying as you go or canceling the trip.

Paying taxes on 1942 is like buying oats for a dead mule. The new proposed method is an umbrella in a cold shower bath.

The way to Kitty a poker game is to take out after each pot. And that's right.

I hope the government adopts the plan. I have examined it carefully and it is the first popular thing in years that doesn't seem to be illegal.

Everyman's quiz or what do you know about Flynn's?

Q—Can you name two Flynn's whose names have been in the news recently? A—Well, there's Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, she's some kind of a leader of the Communist party.

Q—Well . . . I'll give you five points on that. Can you name another. I'll give you a hint . . . the President recently named him to a diplomatic post. A—Oh, sure . . . that's Edward Flynn. Now I remember . . . the President named him Ambassador to Hollywood but a couple of Australians said he paved their yacht with Belgian hitch-hikers.

Q—Well . . . go on . . . you're a little confused, but maybe you can clear it up. Who is Errol Flynn? A—Errol Flynn? He's the fellow who's trying to get Styles Bridges deported to Australia.

Q—You mean Harry Bridges, don't you? A—No . . . Harry Bridges is a senator from California. I mean Styles Bridges, the labor leader.

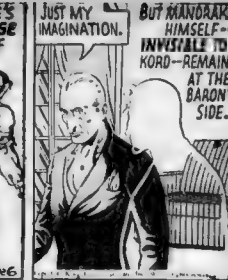

Q—All right . . . Why is he trying to get Bridges deported? Can you answer that? A—Who . . . Edward Flynn? Sure. He wants to get this Bridges deported because he is standing in the way of his confirmation.

Q—Who is standing in who's way? A—Why this Bridges . . . The Senate labor leader. He's keeping Errol Flynn from making pictures in Australia with an all-Belgian cast.

Q—I thought it was Belgian paving blocks. A—No . . . only one of them is Belgian. The other is single.

Q—Do you think he'll go free? A—No . . . I think they'll keep him on the national committee.

4 SHARE TOP TIP AWARD

Four tipsters share top honors in last week's Record-American and Sunday's Tipster Contest, which awards $25 each week for readers who report news to the Tip Editor.

Cash awards of $2 each go to a Lynn man for his tip that the principal at Lynn Classical High School averted a students strike; to a Medford man for a train wreck in Chelsea; a Sharon man for his tip on a fire in a Tremont st. night club and to a Roxbury man for his story on the adoption of a little six-year-old girl.

Checks for $1 each will go to tipsters for the following stories:

To a Lowell man for a fire in his city; a Jamaica Plain man for his tip on a Deer Island prison break; a Quincy woman for her story on earth tremors in Quincy caused by Army target practice. For his tip on the homecoming of a Marine from Guadalcanal, an East Boston man receives a check. A Charlestown man for a story on a defense plant accident; a Boston man for a butter shortage story; a Somerville woman and an Everett man for tips on fires; a Providence man for a story in Concord; and a Quincy woman for an automobile accident in the Granite City.

Also listed among the $1 winners was a Cambridge man for a fire and explosion that injured two firemen; another Cambridge man for a story on a broken hydrant; an Everett man for further information on the Chelsea train crash; and an Arlington man for his alertness in phoning in a fatal automobile accident.

Other tipsters who earned dividends on their phone calls were a Dorchester man for his tip on fuel oil which made good pictures; an Everett man for phoning in a worthwhile news story, and a Brighton woman for a boiler explosion on Mt. Hood rd.

The Tipster Contest is open to all. If you feel you have a tip that is worth either a story or a picture call the Tip Editor, Liberty 4000 and share in the weekly awards.

Many Players to Train in South

BASEBALL OWNERS are not going to make themselves look ridiculous by ordering players living in Florida, California and in other states that have warmth and sunshine in the late winter and early spring to come north to do their training.

EDDIE MILLER

Eddie Miller, brilliant shortstop who will play for the Reds rather than the Braves this year, announces he has received permission to train near his home at Lake Worth, Fla. It is expected that Paul Derringer, John Cooney, Paul Waner and a dozen other players will work out at Sarasota.

There will not be any ballyhoo in connection with these training sessions. The ball players will be content to get in some batting and fielding practice, and they will not attempt to stage any games.

As the players who will get the advantage of the heat of the South are already in that section of the country there will not be any extra burden on the transportation facilities of the nation. Later the players will come North in small groups.

None of these practice sessions will be held in the Miami area. The Army and Navy are increasing their holdings in this part of Florida, and they do not wish to have any ball players training there.

The big leaguers who are able to train in the south will be in better condition than those who workout in the north. The warm weather of Florida and California will be particularly helpful to the older players. While they will not be able to sharpen up their batting eyes in actual games, they still will be able to get in considerable hitting practice.

If the weather should be good during the early part of April, the big league teams should be able to have sufficient practice games before the season opens. With the changed system of training and the delayed opening, the various clubs will hold morning workouts through most of May so as to make up for lost time.

Baseball will survive, but it will have to pattern itself to a changed world.

Larry Pacino Is Aggressive and a Puncher

LARRY PACINO, All-America graduate from Roxbury who collides with Frankie Britt of Fall River in a ten-round bout at Mechanics Building on Thursday night, is a fine looking professional prospect. Pacino is aggressive and a good puncher as he was in the days when he was winning All-America titles. The Roxbury youngster has had a long run of victories as a professional, and he is confident he will dispose of Britt.

Britt is a veteran campaigner. He knows all of the fine points of the boxing game, and believes he is too ring-wise for the youthful Pacino.

After losing two games on throw, the Bruins tackle the high-stepping Detroit Red Wings tonight at the Garden. Due to their setbacks in Detroit and Chicago they dropped Smilin' Jack. "In less than two weeks we've knocked off the Rangers twice, the Bruins once and have tied Chicago twice, both of which games we should have won.

"The Bruins gave us a real battle last Thursday out in Detroit," continued Jack. "I thought it would be a breeze with Clapper and Gallinger out of action, but it was a battle right down to the final whistle.

"You fellows are all steamed up over Brimsek, and I'll grant that he's a great goal minder. In my opinion, Brimsek is the secret of the Bruins' success. But, as good as he is, Brimsek isn't in Johnny Mowers' class this year. Of the seven shutout games played in the N. H. L. this year, Mowers has four to his credit. He has blanked the high scoring Leafs in Toronto, the Bruins in Detroit and the Rangers in both New York and at home.

"Mowers has that Vezina trophy bagged right now, for in the same number of games (31) he has allowed 24 less goals than 'Turk' Broda, and 43 less than your Brimsek in three less games.

"If young Gallinger is back in the lineup tonight, we'll have more trouble beating the Bruins than we did in Detroit. But, to be honest, I'd rather have Gallinger against us than Clapper, who, as far as we are concerned, can remain on the bench for the rest of the season."

Dobbs Liked in Millrose Mile

By BOB CONSIDINE

There will be no 30 m. p. h. speed limit invoked at the Millrose games, to be contested at Madison Square Garden soon with the best runners and jumpers in the nation in action.

The roof will be Cornelius Warmerdam's limit and 32 crack sprinters can burn their rubber, or spikes, to liquid. The A. A. U. brass hats will supply the gas.

Feature events of the big streamlined indoor meet, as usual, will be the Wanamaker mile, the Sheppard 600, the 60-yard sprint and the pole vault. Warmerdam's ambition is to up his record of 15 feet 7 1/2 inches to 16 feet. The committee will give him the benefit of several yards of added approach. The big fellow needs almost as much room for his take-off as a water-logged Flying Fortress. Within limits imposed by the four walls of the Garden, he'll get it. But getting himself and his bamboo poles across the country from California is a problem he'll have to solve within the next few days.

Gil Dobbs, the Boston theologian who set an alarming precedent in track ranks last year by turning in frugal expense accounts barely covering his actual expenses, will come down for the Wanamaker mile and be favored to win it.

Solemn Gil's friend, Jack Ryder, Boston College track coach, says Gil has developed a new "kick" that has peeled two seconds off his time for the quarter. Ryder doesn't see any reason why Dobbs can't knock off Glenn Cunningham's American mile record of 4:06.7.

The Sheppard 600, named after the late great Olympic runner, will have Jimmy Herbert, who has won it four out of the last five times; Hugh Short, the I. C. A. A. A. champ and first Georgetown runner to appear in the race; Russ Owen, Ohio State, and Bob Ufer of Michigan, holder of the world indoor cinder track record for a quarter of a mile.

The sprint field will be led by Barney Ewell, of Camp Lee, Va., one of the fastest runners who ever lived. He is the first serviceman to run in the Millrose games in its 36-year history. His invitation started an avalanche of bids to fleet-footed servicemen. This time there will be 36 sprinters instead of the usual 16.

The Millrose games will be something of a novelty for New York. It will be the first indoor meet held indoors here this year. The Metropolitan senior indoor championships were held outdoors last week and the week before, it being impossible to secure an armory or arena.

Something's Wrong In Hawks' Set-Up

Apparently there's something wrong in Chicago or Coach Paul Thompson would be handing the Blackhawks instead of Johnny Gottselig, who is listed as the scout... Thompson and his Hawks may not stand high with the front office in the Windy City but they have gummied up the N. H. L. race in great style. They have amassed 31 points this season in 30 games while resting in fourth place. But they have taken 8 out of 12 points from the high scoring Leafs and have divided the points equally with the Bruins and Detroit... There isn't any question in the minds of even the most partisan Blackhawks followers but that Toronto, Detroit and Bruins are better clubs. But they haven't proven to be... If Major McLaughlin turns Thompson loose, it will be all right with "Hap" Day, Jack Adams and Art Ross... There's not much to Don Gallinger, center of the Bruins' Sprout line. So, after spending four days in a hospital with the gripe, the youngster cannot be expected to be at his best tonight.

Paul Thompson

Win Green reported back to the Bruins today. He has been on leave since New Year's Day and his appearance may spark the Rossmen to snap out of their two-game slump... Judging from the comments in the Montreal press, Marty Barry wasn't given a free hand while he was coaching the Army team... On the trip to the Montreal Army team made here to play the Olympics, more commissioned officers than players accompanied the club... Paul Haynes, former Bruin who succeeded Marty Barry, was selected over Dave Trotter, Leo Hefferman and Jimmy Ward... Frank Selke is really on the loose now that he has come out publicly and stated he wishes that the Toronto fans would root for the Leafs at home like the Montrealers root for Les Canadiens. He fears that the Queen City fans have gone blasé because they have seen such great teams for so many years that they demand constant perfection... Some of the Toronto ash customers are crabbing because Gave Stewart went into a jump. They have overlooked the fact that the rookie was injured here when Jack Crawford hit him with a terrific body check.

Jack Sharkey, former heavyweight champion of the world, didn't pay the slightest attention to the ruling of the Montreal Athletic Commission which barred him from refereeing the Yvon Robert-Joe Cox wrestling match. He went to Montreal and the M. A. C. just cold, so Jack refereed.

Incidentally, Jack saved Robert from losing his title by flattening Cox not less than three times during the third and deciding fall... The New York Madison Square Garden has been in an up-ramp since Ned Irish was made the "duration" president. Lester Patrick and Irish don't jell any more than hockey and basketball.

RALPH KING To Defend N. U. Titles

RINDGE BOY SEEKS REPEAT

Ralph King of Rindge Tech will be a headline performer at the 16th annual Northeastern Inter-scholastics Saturday afternoon, when he will be seeking to repeat his 1942 victories in the 45-yard dash and 300-yard run. Last year, by virtue of his twin victories in these events, King blasted Rindge into first place in the Inter-scholastics.

Entries have been received from 310 competitors, representing 31 high schools, according to Prof. Edward S. Parsons, Northeastern athletic director.

Besides first-place winner Rindge Tech, entries have been received from second-place Medford, fourth-place Concord, and Brookline, tied for fifth with Worcester Commerce last year.

Three more of last year's place winners will try to repeat Saturday. They are Charles Johnson of Brookline, who placed third in the 45-yard dash, and John Newby of Medford and Carlyle Parsons of Boston Latin, who placed second and fourth in the 300.

A-N Nines Seen As Morale Builders

By HERB FINNEGAN

It is no military secret to state that the Army and Navy are composed in the main of youngsters who never have met a major league ball player; in fact, a major league player, in fact, have never seen a game of major league ball.

It comes to light repeatedly that the average soldier or sailor would much rather shake the hand of Joe Cronin or Joe DiMaggio than see either in the slime of Guadaluca. Hero worshiping, baseball in particular, is so much a part of American tradition that it cannot be uprooted.

Proof positive of this came last spring when Ted Williams was deferred from I-A to S-A. He was supposed to be booted out of every ball park in the land. Instead, he was greeted with cheers the first time he went to bat for the Sox at Sarasota, and the cheers grew into ovations as the Sox came north.

At Tampa, Fla., at Atlanta, Ga., at Birmingham, Ala., at Columbia, S. C. (near Fort Jackson) Williams was the one player the hordes of khaki-clad soldiers insisted upon seeing. He was autographing for hours at a stretch; telling them how to swing a bat for other hours. It didn't make sense, but there it was before your eyes.

BALL PLAYERS NO. 1

Jack Dempsey was supposed to have been a slacker in the last war. Yet he grew in popularity until he became the No. 1 sports idol of the country, and now, 23 years later, is not far from the top spot.

Prominent athletes have plenty of entertainment value. And what group of athletes is better known than big league ball players who are in the headlines practically 10 months of the year?

Ask any 100 servicemen whether they'd rather see "This Is the Army," and meet the actors, or see a big league ball game and meet the players. Ninety-nine of them would go for the ball players. No getting away from it.

Now since there are more major leaguers in the armed forces than there are in the majors, and since they are staying in this country, we come to the question of the day: Why not collect a Navy team, led by Mickey Cochrane, and an Army team, led by Hank Greenberg, and let them play a regular series of games all summer long at the various cantonments, or even fly to Honolulu, Alaska and where not? Or, why not a team of National Leaguers in the service against a team of American Leaguers in the service and advertise: "Every game a World Series."

JUST THINK OF THE POWER

Theatrical people travel everywhere entertaining service men and, though they donate their services, they still pick up dough on their regular routine. Circus people also are allowed to travel. Why not the baseball crowd, then, especially since they are drawing down only a service man's salary?

Think of the power in the Army lineup—Joe DiMag, Hank Greenberg, Pat Mullin, Cecil Travis, Buddy Lewis, Birdie Tebbets, Taft Wright, etc. Think of the power in the Navy lineup with Ted Williams, Sam Chapman, Johnny Pesky, Eddie Pellagrini, Dom DiMaggio, Joe Grace, Barney McCosky, etc.

The move would be most popular with service men. It would be invaluable publicity for baseball and it would be a break for the ball players, because it would enable them to keep in trim for the day when there are no more wars.

Calder, N. H. L. Boss, 'Resting'

TORONTO, Jan. 26 (AP)—A routine meeting of the National Hockey League's board of governors was adjoined suddenly yesterday after Pres. Frank Calder suffered a heart attack.

The 66-year-old Montreal executive was stricken five minutes after the governors met for their afternoon session. He was taken to a hospital where attendants said he was resting easily this morning.

Calder has been president of the league since it was founded in 1927.

In the morning session the governors made arrangements for the playoff series, pairing the first and third clubs against each other in a best-of-seven series.

A's in Honor Spot With 20 in Service

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox, who have proudly held the No. 1 spot in the American League service list with 19 players in the armed forces, have had to surrender that position to the Philadelphia Athletics.

A revised service list today showed the Athletics with 20 men working under Uncle Sam's colors. The Sox, however, have the honor of being the only American League club with a player in the Marines—Lieut. Ted Lyons, veteran pitcher. Of the grand total of 125 in service, 64 are in the Army, 55 in the Navy, two in the Canadian Air Force and two are uncertified.

Patrons Save Golf Club From Closing

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Westgate Valley public golf course faced the possibility of shutting down this year because most of its help either had gone to war or found work at defense plants.

The problem was easily solved, however, when 35 regular patrons of the course volunteered their services. They will work in the clubhouse, on the course and in the pro shop. In the meantime they may find time to play a little golf.

3 GRADS GET CHANCE TO SET TUFTS RECORDS

Credit Tufts athletic fathers with a sporting, intelligent action. It was chronicled the other day that three seniors, graduated last week, had lost their lone chance of breaking Tufts' records in their field—event specialties because the storm of Jan. 16 prevented Holy Cross from reaching Tufts for their scheduled dual meet. The three seniors—Joe Hoffer, Warren Price and Bruce Watkins—had been bettering the pole vault, broad jump and shotput records all winter. That they lost their opportunity to have their names inscribed on Tufts' record shields was no fault of their own. As a result Tufts officials voted to let the three compete in the dual meet with New Hampshire Saturday. Since all three are field event men, it means merely an extra jump here, vault there, etc. Their points will not count but if they do exceed the college records said records will stand. Needless to say the boys and especially Coach Ding Dussault are grateful.

Two other seniors, Paul Long and Don Reid, were not so lucky. Since they are track men, they couldn't very well be permitted to run. It's not so bad for Reid because he won his letter last year. Young Long, however, is not a letter man. Just started to come this winter and arrived so fast he won the lead-off spot on the mile relay team.

Tufts had prospects of the finest dual meet team in the east. Now it is having trouble banding four men together for a mile relay. For example, Alan Beebe commutes daily from Lynn. He's an exceptionally good student, has such late classes he can't spare the time from his studies for track work. Last year he was a member of the two-mile relay, scored 20 points in the indoor dual meets doubling in the 100 and mile. In the spring he ran the mile and won the event in three of the four dual meets Tufts engaged in... Pete Coffin, one of the best of Tufts sprinters, has just been summoned by the Army Reserve Corps. Other standbys lost by causes other than graduation are Charlie Kirkiles, dash 300 and relay; Walter McCarthy, freshman who won the two-mile against Harvard; Duke Holden, a freshman who looked like a champion 1000-yarder; Dick Smith of Dedham and George Kennedy of Cambridge. Last named, brother of Northeastern's fleet Francis, is a fine 600-yarder.

Tufts still has several headlines in Roy Phillips, two-miler; Harry Drake, 600; Tommy Lennon, hurdles; Walter King, freshman miler from Lowell; Ted Sparrow, hurdles; Phillips, 9:18 at Penn last spring, will compete in the Millrose special, possibly against Greg Rice... Sparrow, says Dussault, will rank with Dugger and Hall as a hurdler before he's through... Dugger, incidentally, writes Dussault that he's in training at Dayton, O., and will be on hand for the B. A. A. games Feb. 13. He won the event a year ago, beating Fred Wolcott in the process. Dugger, an engineer, is an inspector of Army bombers at the Wright aeronautical plant in Dayton.

30 LORD JEFFS THRIVE ON WAR ATHLETICS

Florida Race Officials Lose Hope

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 26 (AP)—Dan Chappell, attorney for the Horsemen's Protective Ass'n, returned from Washington with word that re-opening of Florida's racing season is "virtually hopeless."

"After interviewing men concerned with the gas rationing situation in the capital," Chappell said, "I have returned to advise horsemen that there is no chance that relief will come in time to re-open racing in Florida this season."

ODDS GET LONGER

"In fact, I am convinced that the gas situation as it pertains to racing will become worse before it gets better."

John C. Clark, president of Hialeah Park, declared that the beginning of the delayed meeting at his track is "a five to one shot, and the odds are lengthening as each day passes."

"W. are not a bit sanguine, Clark said, but we are standing by in order to provide stable and training facilities for the horsemen."

Tropical Park called off its meeting with five days to go when the ban on pleasure driving became effective, and Hialeah did not open as scheduled Jan. 13.

GULFSTREAM GIVES UP

No Tropical official was available for comment. The track is scheduled to open a spring meeting March 8.

A group of horsemen who had considered a co-operative meeting at Gulfstream Park in an effort to ease the plight of the handlers of more than 1000 thoroughbreds stranded here announced Sunday night that they could not get action in time, and that they would not attempt to hold races this season.

In that time Amherst teams have not been defeated in a single major athletic contest. They have produced the first unbeaten and untied eleven in Lord Jeff gridiron history and a soccer team which gained the Little Three title and a tie for the New England intercollegiate championship.

The basketball and swimming teams have taken up where the fall team stopped. Each is in the midst of its schedule but has yet to bow to any opponent.

"All team practice has been in addition to a very tough physical fitness schedule," explained Prof. Allison W. "Eli" Marsh, head of the physical education department, who doubles in brass as soccer coach.

"Some colleges excuse athletic competitors from the regular physical education. But we believe our policy of toughening for all under the wartime physical training program is what is helping our teams to show up so well."

The Lord Jeff basketball team, which has rolled up 283 points to 185 for the opposition in its first five games, resumes hostilities Thursday with neighboring Massachusetts State and takes on Vermont Friday.

The swimming team, victor in three meets while outscoring its rivals, 165-65, does not resume competition until next month.

Amherst's unbeaten and untied eleven scored 175 points while holding seven rivals to 31 and captured the Little Three title by wallowing Wesleyan, 27-0, and upsetting previously unbeaten and untied Williams, 12-8.

Its captain, Adrian "Bud" Hasse, was chosen left end on the all-America small college eleven. The soccer team ran up 26 points in six games while limiting its rivals to only four tallies. Dartmouth, Massachusetts State and Williams were shut out by the Amherst booters. Three Lord Jeffs were picked on the all-New England team and Capt. George Halliwell was honored with the leadership of this mythical eleven.

The boys apparently find the wartime physical fitness program enables them to emulate the storied feats of their patron, Lord Jeffrey Amherst, who "conquered all the enemy that came within his sight, and looked around for more when he was through."

Costa Bids for Place In 'Welter' Tangle

A new entry into the wrangle for the New England welterweight championship will try to add power to his bid for a title match when Al Costa, of New Bedford, takes on Al Evans, Newport, R. I., in one of the three eight round feature bouts at the Arena Friday night.

Fighting exclusively in Fall River and New Bedford this season, Costa, thriving on competition, has chalked up 13 straight triumphs. In other eight, a pair of graduates of the local amateur ranks, Dave Andrews, Lowell, and Steve Kronis, South End, will try to continue their undefeated streaks. Andrews, an All-America champ, will be paired with Frankie McDougall, Roxbury, while Kronis tackles Snooks Lacey, New Haven, Ct.

Brockton Gives Servicemen Ten-Pin Sport

Members of the armed services stationed in New England come from all sections of the country. Those from the South and West who know bowling as tenpins are apt to look upon devotees of candle and duck pins as misguided souls. Bowling to the boy from the wide open spaces means rolling a 16-pound ball at pins that each weigh from three pounds to three pounds eight ounces.

Some of them have discovered that they can find plenty of competition in Brockton, which has more than 1000 tenpin enthusiasts in its various leagues.

The Brockton City Ten Pin League, composed of most of the top-notch keggers in the city and surroundings towns, is comparable to the Classic or Class A leagues in New York and the Midwest. The City Tenpin League rolls Friday nights and its matches provide plenty of fireworks for bowling fans in this district.

THRU BINOCULARS

By HORACE WADE
NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 26—"Hope springs eternal... and a' that!"

The eternal fountain of human optimism can be found bubbling daily from the mouths of horsemen stabled at Tropical and Hialeah Parks where every passing day finds new hopes that jingle jangle and new plans are ever in formulation for a glorious winter meeting.

Latest rumor to jump out of the melting-pot is the radioed report of Dinty Dennis, Tropical Park's publicity purveyor, that "there's a strong possibility Hialeah will open its gates on Feb. 1." According to Dinty, horsemen are so confident of renewed activity that they are standing pat with only 30 horses or so having been shipped so far to New Orleans.

Another report tells of a possible meeting of Gulfstream Park, about 16 miles from the heart of Miami, all on a co-operative basis so that the 1200 horses stabled South can get in a little action and the stables have at least a fighting chance to pay their feed bills.

Allen T. Simmons, whose horses raced at Suffolk Downs two years ago, is prepared to offer the scheme financial support, as are other wealthy horsemen in Florida.

It is hard, from this far-off point, to know whether or not they are tilting with windmills. Certainly the Florida tourist business is shot to pieces, with the merchants walling a bitter tune. Never before in the history of Miami did horse racing prove itself so conclusively the state's chief industry, as all Florida suffers from a paucity of tax money, a void filled so often in the past by the parliamentary "take."

In the meantime, here's a thumbnail sketch of Miami as seen through the pen of one of those now languishing in the erstwhile winter Paradise:

"... Miami is as peaceful as a cemetery. The crowds which used to swarm up and down Flagler, have faded into traffic lights, and automobiles pass on rare occasions. Many downtown stores are closed tight, and few of the rich and popular business houses on Lincoln rd. have been bothered to remove the summer shutters from their doors and windows."

"The police are even taking the cense plate numbers of cars parked two or three blocks from amusement centers. These tyrannical invasions of personal rights have evoked a shoal of tirades from the 'vox pop' contingent in the papers."

"To illustrate how the fear complex operates, we attended a motion picture show. They played to practically beggary rows of empty seats, with no more than 25 to 30 patrons. I asked an usher why this obtained and if he was the exception."

"He said 'no, this anti-pleasure driving ban tore the insides out of the theater business.' If you use your car for a social call you're liable to have your gas coupon confiscated."

It's a lugubrious letter from the Miami front and makes New Orleans bright and chipper by comparison.

Jeffries Says Choyinski Hit Him Hardest

BURBANK, Cal., Jan. 26 (INS)—Former Champion James J. Jeffries today recalled his 20-round fight in 1897 with Joe Choyinski, famous old-time fighter, who died yesterday at Cincinnati.

"I'll never forget that fight," Jeffries said. "Joe hit me with the hardest punch of any man I ever fought."

"Coming off the ropes, he banged me with a short right that broke my nose and drove my lips into my teeth."

The fight, held in San Francisco, Nov. 30, 1897, went 20 rounds to a draw. Jeffries now lives at Burbank, where he stages regular boxing shows at his famed "Barn."

Frankie Britt of Fall River, former New England champion of the welter and middleweight divisions, has been installed a slight favorite to defeat young Larry Pacino of Roxbury in their scheduled 10-round battle in Mechanics Building Thursday night.

Hear it played this week at Loew's State Theatre by Louis Weir at the Wurlitzer organ.

Among the "name" skiers now training the fighting mountaineers in the art of military skiing, cross-country and downhill is none other than Toger Tokle, the tall, blond Norwegian, world champion jumper and holder of scores of records . . . Flying like a dive bomber through space on his winged boards, the 22-year-old Tokle set an American hill mark with his mighty leap of 288 feet at Snoqualmie Hill, Seattle, Wash. . . . Other victories included jumps of 225 feet at Gifford, N. H.; 203 feet for the hill record at Duluth, Minn.; 224 feet at Brattleboro, Vt., and 273 feet at Leavenworth, Wash.

We had the pleasure of meeting this great champ at Gifford-Laconia, N. H., last winter, at the same time thrilling to watch him smash the record here, with a flight that had the rhythm and form of a fancy diver . . . When we heard for Camp Hale in the near future we are looking forward to serving in the ranks with such stalwarts as Tokle—and hundreds of others.

SHAUGHNESSY ACCEPTS PITT GRID BERTH

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 26 (INS)—Clark D. Shaughnessy, a veteran of 29 years of college coaching, accepted the offer of the University of Pittsburgh to succeed Charles Bowser as head football coach. The salary was reported in excess of $12,000. Shaughnessy formally accepted the position after he had returned to the University of Maryland campus from a week-end conference here with athletic director, James Hagan of the Oakland School.

The move by Pitt shoves aside the time-honored system of graduate coaches and its famous Warner-style of play by which it climbed to the pinnacle of collegiate football fame.

"I regret to leave Maryland after only one year," Shaughnessy said, "but Pittsburgh's offer was such that I could not turn it down."

Shaughnessy is expected to return to Pittsburgh late this week to start installation of his famous "T" formation.

Watson, Hansen Grip In Arena Co-Feature

Billy Watson, victor over Marvin Westenberg in his only start this season, will try to force his way into the championship picture when he takes on Slidin' Bill Hansen in one of the co-feature bouts of the weekly wrestling show at the Arena tomorrow night.

Watson and Hansen will share top billing in Promoter Paul Bowser's program with the match between Leo Numa and Maurice (The Angel) Tillet.

On the supporting card, Danno O'Mahony will meet Rebel Bob Russell in a return bout; Les Ryan will be paired with Fred Bruno; and George Linnehan will be pitted against Manuel Gortez.

Reds Lose Star Rookie To Army or War Job

CINCINNATI, Jan. 26 (AP)—Little Eddie Lukon, whose batting prowess helped Columbus of the American Association annex the Junior World Series title last season, will not be with the Cincinnati Reds as per schedule this spring. Gen. Manager Warren C. Giles of the Reds was notified.

The outfielder is expected to be called for induction in April, but in the event he is deferred because of his defense job, he will remain in Burgettstown, Pa., Giles said.
